The local fair, to begin at Newberg on the 23d is free for all. For several years the people in that part of that county have made a neighborhood exhibit that has been a great credit as well as a means progress. If such fairs could be held in all parts of Oregon they would do much to create honorable enterprise and emulation and add no little to the social advantages of our state.

Subscribe for the Reporter, and pay for it when you subscribe, and we will pledge ourselves to give you more news, for less money, than any other paper in the Willamette valley. The Daily will help the weekly 100 per cent. See if it don't.

If this paper suits you for a bit a week we shall appreciate the favor of your subscription; we have no money to lose in the venture; if it pays its way another column will be added, and another; if not perhaps not. The quality is surely as fair as the rate.

As much space in these columns as can be given consistently to such special purpose, will, in future, be devoted to the interests of religious and secular societies and associations, according as they in substantial ways reciprocate the interest taken in them by the Reporter.

The Astoria boys were received with honors at home on their victorious return from Salem. When the hose cart came ashore twenty-four handsome young ladies fairly captured the victorious, blushing "Rescue" boys, and gave each a beautiful bouquet, after which, at the word of command from the fair captors, the boys formed behind the hose cart, and the girls manned the ropes and proceeded through the city to Liberty hall, where was spread a magnificent banquet, and where everybody had a general good time.

The war cloud is growing blacker in the east. From present indications the great powers of Europe are likely to become involved in a bloody contest over a very small matter.

There seems to be nothing more certain than that Oregon is to get her full share of railway connection to the eastern states, and that with as little intervening time as possible.

I. S. Perry's artesian well at his mill at North Yamhill, is so strongly impregnated with mineral that he can not use it in his boilers. Some think he has a mineral well equal to Wilhoit springs.

The output of $12,000,000 in silver in Montana this year is regarded by the St. Paul Globe as an excellent provision for making a senatorial election interesting, and that paper thinks the territory should have a state government without delay.

Wm. Geldards little daughter Ida, aged about 12 years, awoke her parents Saturday night between 10 and 11 o'clock, complaining that she could not sleep; and died before morning. Ida has been an invalid for some years. They live beyond Carlton on the North Yamhill road.

It is all nonsense to talk about carrying northern states by southern votes imported by colony process. It would give rise to as much trouble here as there. Education is the one thing needful to a republican form of government. Lazy, ignorant, mercenary whites never ought to be allowed the right of an elective franchise, and suffrage was carried too far when it was extended to the freedmen.

The patent outside sheets miscalled newspapers have a column or two of what is called "state news," "coast news," etc., and a good deal of it is "news" indeed. All of them are just announcing, for example, that Hank Vaughn was shot and cannot recover, and this after he has recovered. The patent outside is in every case an imposition on the public that deserves no patronage. Pendleton East Oregonian.
