

The Daily Reporter.

D. C. IRELAND & CO. PUBLISHERS.

McMinnville, Or. Sept. 18, 1886

Sidewalk lumber for sale at this office.

Subscribe for the Daily Reporter. Only ten cents per week.

Hon. J. H. Mitchell is expected at home in Portland within a week.

Choice uncolored and English breakfast tea 50 cents a lb. at the bakery.

W. H. Bingham sent out another wagon load of household goods into the country yesterday.

Will Loughary is giving good satisfaction, we are pleased to learn, as assistant OCR agent at Corvallis.

If you want a first class article of furniture made, Mr. Clark will produce it for you at E. B. Fellows' cabinet shop.

Bro. Strubbe passed down the road yesterday. He says the Chronicle will appear at Corvallis sure on or about the 1st.

Hank Vaughn's assailant was taken to the pen last week for four years. By the time his term is served the patent insides will find it out.

A fine lot of moulding for picture frames at E. B. Fellows'. Call and sample the lot. Any size pictures framed to order, neat, quick and cheap.

Prof. A. L. Francis, one of the best, most successful piano and organ tuners, is in the city, headquarters at the Central. He expects to remain until this p. m.

Dr. Loughary and Judge Loughary were called home to the bedside of Mrs. J. Harvey Henderson yesterday. We are pained to say that Mrs. H. is lying very near to death's door.

St. James church, Rev. John C. Fair, rector. Services 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school 9:30 a. m. Friday evening service at 7:30 o'clock. Seats free. All are cordially invited.

Uncle John Baker did buy Nashville, it seems, when he was over to Yaquina, and expected to put up a big hotel and go into business over there, but his partner went back on it.

Services at M. E. church next Sunday as usual at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Subject of evening discourse, "Suicides; cause and cure." All are invited. H. P. Satchwell, Pastor.

The finest sweet potatoes I ever saw at Baxter & Martin's to-day.

H. L. Pittocks son Robert died in Cannonsburg, Pa., on the 16th.

Curt von Otterstet of the Portland German Free Press is in the city.

Wanted at this office to-day. A man to carry the Daily Reporter and attend the press.

The Daily Reporter is a success. We expect to enlarge in a few days, at the same price. Only ten cents a week.

F. D. Jordan, a teacher from Massachusetts, is in the city. He has been granted a certificate and will take the Moores valley school next week.

There is going to be a war between the NP and ORNCo., at no distant day; and the low rates the country will then get will make it chuckle with satisfaction.

Ladd & Reed took premiums at the state fair upon every animal exhibited from Broadmeads farm. Uncle Jim Fletcher took first premium on his stallion Young Cleveland.

Three prizes are to be shot for at Collard's gallery. One is a handsome Winchester rifle, 2d a box of cigars; 3d a silver dollar. Call and take a shot. Mr. Collard will give you all particulars.

Lot Livermore as postmaster of Pendleton has been a faithful and efficient public officer for thirteen and a half years. He was appointed in 1873 by John A. Cresswell, then postmaster-general.

Renewals should begin to come in from this time on, and we hope those of our readers whom we waited upon will make an effort to send in renewals and at the same time send in a few new names.

The rapid ticket-seller has located at the OCR office at Portland, so the Statesman says. He "figgers" a twenty on three fares at two-and-half before handing back the $12.50, no matter how many passengers there are to go.

Born, in this city, to the wife of James Heath, Sept. 17, 1886, a daughter. Mother and child are doing well. Mr. Heath is down with typhoid fever, and in his case for a certainty, we sincerely hope for his recovery.

The west side road is beginning to pick up its ears a little. Gaston is electrified by the news that after so long a time it is to have a station house and agent. A. L. McLeod, of Dilley, is to assume the responsibility of running the office.

Remember the Bee-keepers meeting convenes on Tuesday next.

It is about time for the bi-ennial hue and cry about school books. When somebody wants a change he sets up a howl about the school book fraud. The existing evil can be remedied without creating a monopoly for the benefit of any publishing house.

In 1884 a bowling alley was shipped to this place for the Grand Army boys to amuse themselves with at the reunion at the fair grounds. It is still at the freight depot, charges and interest collectable. It didn't pan out a paying venture. Who will call and claim the goods?

We were pleased yesterday to receive a call from Mr. King, of the firm of Olds & King, leading Portland merchants. Mr. King was up on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. J. T. Jolly, and returned to Portland this a. m. He is well posted in Yamhill county, and their house enjoys a good trade from this locality.

Messrs. Lotan and Ferguson returned from a tour of inspection at Yaquina yesterday. They inspected the Yaquina, Favorite and Mischief. The latter is Capt. Winant's nobby little auxiliary schooner, built at Parkers mill last summer. She was to have left Newport for Portland yesterday.

Father White left the city a few days ago for a little needed rest, expecting to return next week. Yesterday his rooms were invaded by half a dozen ladies, and they proceeded to measure the floors for new carpets, and enter upon a regular house cleaning. Two of the rooms will be carpeted with new rag carpets, made expressly for the purpose, under the management of Mrs. Jacob Wornan, one of which deservedly took first prize at the late county fair. The reception room floor will be covered by a new carpet furnished by the gentlemen from E. B. Fellows' stock and Mr. F. has volunteered to frame an excellent picture of Bishop Gross and add a bracket or two to the ornaments in the room. This work is done as a surprise by the ladies of St. James Alder society, organized one year since. The ladies have placed a beautiful chancel lamp in the church, paid the altar expenses, and have $31 in the treasury. The officers are, Mrs. Bergevin president, Miss S. Mark vice president, Miss Carrie Mark secretary and Father White treasurer.