SEPARATION.

Would you know me if you met me
In the paths we used to tread?
Would you know me, darling, darling,
While you deem me with the dead?
Would my face bring back the memories
Of the past long buried low?
Would you stoop and kiss me then, dear,
As you did once, long ago?
Would your heart in sorrow soften
If you knew how keen the pain?
How I've suffered, darling, darling,
Clasp me to your heart again.
How through months of pain and anguish
True my heart has been to you;
Would you love me? oh, my darling,
Would you love if you knew?
—Telegram.

"I have examined the cream of tartar used by the Royal Baking Powder Company in the manufacture of their baking powder, and find it to be perfectly pure, and free from lime in any form. The chemical tests to which I have submitted the Royal Baking Powder prove it perfectly healthful, and free from every deleterious substance."

Anarchists at Cleveland, Ohio, who were gathered in public meeting recently, vociferously applauded this sentiment by one of the speakers: "If the seven convicted anarchists in Chicago are hanged, seven hundred thousand avengers will arise from their blood." It is true that such talk is idle and absurd spoken in the hearing of sensible men; but it is also true that all men are not sensible. And orderly cities, especially such as have had any taste of anarchism, are unable to understand why such public and incendiary utterances in Cleveland or elsewhere are not summarily suppressed. The liberty of speech in men like the personal liberty of men logically ceases where the rights of other men begin.
