NOTICE TO LITIGANTS.

Legal advertising at this office costs the litigant no more than the same space costs the business man. Fifty cents per inch (solid minion type) per month. There is an average of one hundred words to the inch. Count it up for yourselves, and send your orders to this office.

NEWS AND NOTES.

Scientists are not needed in Charleston just now as much as money and food.

The drift of things in Europe seems to be in the direction of sneezing on the part of all the powers, because the czar takes snuff.

The public printer Benedict is a rat. Printers will know what this means, and will not thank the administration for the appointment.

The belligerent European governments still rival the American prize-fighters in doing their fighting by means of their mouth pieces.

Martin Irons is a good deal mixed up with things related to his name. For tapping the wires he is now behind the bars, and steel is not harder than he deems his fate.

An eastern critic asks: "Why on earth is a bull placed on the oleomargarine stamp? put a cow there." Our contemporary is not up on the margarine question. The cow is not engaged in the business.

Miss Rose Cleveland has found that the editorial chair of a magazine is not as comfortable a seat as it might be. The prejudice of contributors against the waste-paper basket as an institution has awakened a strain of sadness in her musings.

A great many overland travelers take the Canadian Pacific route. On the last steamer for Victoria there were about twenty residents of San Francisco, who for the first time, will cross the continent on the Canadian side of the border.

A recent ruling of the general land office that claimants to government land cannot make final proof unless, together with other improvements they have raised a crop, is reversed by Commissioner Sparks on a case appealed from Dakota. He rules that a crop is not necessary.

The president and his wife reached Washington on the 22d. The outing has given Grover a sort of Raphael tint while Mrs. Cleveland looks fresh and happy. The president's gun, when he fired at a buck, served him a good deal like some of his votes did; knocked him end over end by its kick.

Plans and specifications have been sent to Elijah Smith, for completion of the gap in the railroad line between Blue Mountain and Centerville, and also between Riparia and Colfax, with bridges across Snake river. It is now certain that within twelve months the Oregon Short line trains will be running through Walla Walla.
