McMinnville, Or. - Oct. 5, 1886

TO OUR READERS.

We do not expect any who are patrons of this paper to take both THE DAILY and THE WEEKLY REPORTER. That would be unreasonable. All who are taking THE WEEKLY in the city can order it discontinued at any time, and the balance due upon it can be credited to the account of THE DAILY. We receive three or four new names from the country for every one discontinued in the city under this arrangement, therefore our friends need have no hesitation whatever in asking the favor. McMinnville will never again be without its own Daily paper, and it will be all printed at home at that. No extra charge is made for THE REPORTER in its enlarged form to-day. We paid for the privilege of coming to this lovely city to reside and do business, and we propose to stay; and pay our way as we go along.

A CLOSE CALL.

H. H. Browning, Portland agent of the NPEXCo, in company with a Mr. Lancaster met with a serious stage accident and thrilling excitement on the 20th ult., while en route to Gardner. The break snapped, then broke the stage tongue, and finally snapped the reins; the horses dashing along by the side of an abyss 3,000 feet high and down the mountain like the wind for five miles. Mr. Browning leaped from the stage before a half mile had been run and sustained a few bruises, and wending his way down the road eventually found Lancaster badly cut and bleeding, the stage overturned and the driver and horses gone. Soon after the driver returned, and by patching up the coach and harnessing a couple of old nags to it, they reached their destination. It was a most thrilling adventure, and escape with life was a miracle.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Gov. Moody had as little or less to do with the pardon of Jack Powers and Carrie Bradley as did the editors of the Walawala Statesman, Dalles Times or Sunday Welcome. Read up on the law and rules of pardons, boys.

Bismarck's recent statement that Austria has little interest in the east of Europe, is a transparent subterfuge, for he has been arranging for years to give Austria the Balkan peninsula supremacy, having in view the annexation to German speaking provinces of Austria.

Bismarck is credited with trying very hard to keep Russia and Austria from flying at each other's throats, but he has ordered the German newspapers to administer so much taffy to Russia that he has overdone the business, and is offending Austria, whose views are filtered through the Vienna papers.

HIGH BRED MARRIAGES.

A story is floating through the papers that the eldest son of the prince of Wales, who, if he lives, will come to be the king of Great Britain and Ireland and emperor of India, is about to marry an American girl. We do not believe it. The laws of monarchical etiquette forbid any such alliance. The young prince will probably be restricted in his choice to those pauper German families whose stock in trade is their various quarterings and their strict adherence to the Protestant religion. It would be a hopeful sign if the prince of Wales dared to depart from precedent so far as to permit his son to marry plain Miss Smith of New York or Miss Jones of Philadelphia. But the American public would be surprised to learn that the modern ideas had made such progress that such a marriage was possible. In view of the domestic infelicity existing in the family of the Queen in consequence of some of the unhappy marriages of her daughters, perhaps it would be a blessed good thing for England could she import fresh blood from America. As the husband of her favorite daughter, Henry of Battenberg; brother of the deposed Alexander; is more of an appendage to the queen's apron strings than the prince of Wales ever was, and the latter has taken a pronounced dislike not only to Henry, but the whole low-born tribe. When the deposition of Alexander was announced the queen was in favor of interfering in his behalf at once, and she might have carried her point had not the prince of Wales come to the relief of the ministry. That lordly individual now makes no secret of his contempt for his brother-in-law, and as to Alexander, he seems to be glad rather than sad over the dethronement. Albert Edward, who is nearly fifty years old, probably feels as though he was getting to be a big boy now himself, and his impatience with some of the vagaries of his august mother may be pardoned, particularly when they take the form of championing poor relations-at-law at the risk of running foul at the Russian bear, and when it comes to marrying an American girl into the family there is liable to be much more kicking. With sensible people it is a question whether American girls have not had their day in Europe; their happy hunting ground for some long time, and yet it is said there are several on hand; waiting for titled nincompoops to marry them.

Our breakfast table Sunday was supplied with fine fresh trout from the mountain streams near Idylwild, caught by our worthy friend John Baker. He and Mr. Shartzer caught 113. Mr. S. caught four; Baker 109. Pretty good catch.

A Business Proposition to Everybody.

Having the most complete and best selected stock of goods on the west side, outside of Portland, as conceded by all commercial men, and my facilities for buying being equal to or better than any house here, I am prepared to furnish you with Dry Goods, Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Boots and Shoes, Groceries, Glassware and Crockery, at prices as low or lower than any house outside of Portland, and if you buy upon same terms as you do when you go to Portland, buy in quantities paying cash, I engage to compete with the retail houses of Portland on the same class of goods, save and except Sugar, Salt and such goods as freight figures up on so that it cannot be done. This does not apply to some cheney houses who would bait you by selling some special article at a sacrifice, and making it up on some other articles. IT SHALL BE STRAIGHT BUSINESS. I especially invite purchasers, to call and make an inspection of the goods and price, before buying elsewhere. All goods marked down during clearance sale will be sold at clearance sale prices. Prices of all goods will be plainly marked on them, and no clerk is authorized to make any cut or deviation on them, and will be discharged for doing so before he has authority. SMALL PROFITS AND QUICK RETURNS IS THE MOTTO. CASH IN HAND OR SHORT CREDITS MUST BE THE RULE. A. J. APPERSON.
