The Age of Decoration.

A young man called at the box office of the Baldwin Theater the other day and handed the treasurer a suspicious-looking roll of paper.

"Please hand that to the manager," said he.

The treasurer looked at it dubiously. "I'll give it to him, if you like," he remarked; "but I might as well tell you that he's got more manuscripts now than he can shake a stick at, and he swore the other day that if I took in any more plays he'd"—

"Play!" said the young man, with a snort; "play!—why, what do you take me for, young feller? Do you think I'm a play-writer? No, sir! I'm salesman in a paper-hanging house, I am, and them is samples of our new lines of papers. Play! Well, that is gall!"

The treasurer apologized.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Speaker Carlisle is making a collection of the most curious communications he receives—such, for instance, as a letter from a Minnesota man, who wanted an appropriation by Congress to provide him with a good sleigh. He told what kind of wood it was to be made of, how many bells it should have, and how thick the steel of the runners should be; and in a postscriptum intimated that the salvation of the country depended on the appropriation.

The Kinds of Life Not Worth Living

A life of mere money-getting is always a failure, because you will never get as much as you want. The poorest people in this country are the millionaires, and next to them those who have $500,000. There is not a scissors grinder in New York or Brooklyn so anxious to make money as those men who have piled up fortunes for years. The disease of accumulation has eaten into them. That is not a life worth living. There are too many earthquakes in it, too many shipwrecks, too many perditions. They build their castles and open their picture galleries and make every inducement for happiness to come, but she will not.

So also a life that chiefly strives for worldly approval is a failure. The two most unfortunate men in the United States for the next six months will be the two Presidential nominees. Two great reservoirs of malediction have been gradually filling up, and about midsummer they will be brimming full, and a hose will be attached to them and they will begin to play on the two nominees, and they will have to stand and take it—the falsehood, the caricature the venom, the filth, and they will be rolled over in it and choked with it.

The same thing is seen on a smaller scale in the strife for social position. Good morals and intelligence are not necessary; but wealth, or the show of wealth, is absolutely indispensable. It don't make any difference how you get your wealth, if you only get it. Perhaps you get it by failing four or five times—the most rapid way of accumulation in this country. If a man fails once he is not so very well off; but if he fails twice he is comfortable, and by the time he fails three times he is affluent. But when you really lose your money, how quick they will drop you! High social life is constantly in a change—insecurity dominant, wretchedness dominant and a life not worth living.—Dr. Talmage.
