G. E. Detmering has returned from Portland.

Mrs. Dr. Johnson returned from Astoria last evening.

Call at the St. Charles for the best two-bit meal in Oregon.

Pencost, the sire of Planter, sold at Lorillards sale for $28,000.

What fine weather. No country on earth can beat old Yamhill.

If you want a man to work Multner always has one in mind at the St. Charles.

Uncle Sammy Staggs is a poet and philosopher, as well as an A No. 1 farmer.

Mrs. Gault, Mrs. Hartman, Mrs. Sax and others returned from the fair last evening.

Cooks new hotel is all safely under cover. Messrs. Hodsons have done a fine job on the roof.

Mrs. M. Smith of Washington county, is visiting her daughter in this city, Mrs. Dr. Calbreath.

Miss Rosa Hembree reached home Tuesday evening, accompanied by Miss Mary Hembree, a cousin from the east.

Live citizens of this city say there will be a board of trade here, and an auxiliary branch of the immigration bureau.

If you wish to interest yourself and encourage the pupils at the public school, be present from 2:45 to 4 p. m. to-morrow.

Mr. M. C. Crissman returned from Missouri last evening. Mr. Turner will be here in a day or two. They took in the state suddenly.

Miss Riley, of Oregon city, arrived here last evening to attend the college. She was met at the depot by Miss Mary Carlin, Mary Johnson and Cora Wallace.

Several comments not complimentary to Prof. Houghton, are made since his departure. We are sorry to hear it, for we had formed a good opinion of him.

At the McMinnville Business College the studies of the day session will commence Friday, Oct. 22d, where book-keeping, penmanship, crayon and pen drawing will be taught.

O. O. Hodson will leave Portland this afternoon for Indiana. Uncle Jim Fletcher will accompany him as far as Des Moines Iowa. Good luck attend them.

The ladies of St. James Guild yesterday decided to have a candy pulling social next Wednesday evening at Grange hall. A general invitation is extended to all. No charge for admission.

The funeral of Bouty Sanders was postponed until to-day at 9:30 a. m. The remains will be conveyed to Amity for burial, the fraternity and firemen attending to the depot.

Some of the finest apples we have seen this year comes from the orchard of J. S. Martin. We have several large ones to send abroad, to Astoria, where apples are a dollar a bushel; one of which measures 17 inches in circumference.

The debts against the Prohibition

Star are likely to be paid off and publication continued, next week as usual.

Portable forge, vice, anvil, &c., all in good order and nearly new, for sale cheap by W. F. Collard, at the shooting gallery. Just what a farmer needs on the farm.

The Appeal is favorable to the formation of a press association in this state. The primary object of which is the promotion of a brotherly love. We support the motion.

We understand there will be an attempt made to move Polk county over into Marion when the bridge is finished. We hope Salem won't tear up the narrow gauge.

"Good by Bud," is the greeting Prof. Payne receives this a. m. Our best wishes attend him and his upon the sea of matrimony upon which they are to embark to-day.

An apology is due to all our friends in the public school for failure to publish the roll of honor. It was clearly our mistake that it was not published and we shall take extra care to avoid any repetition of the error in future.

It is said that a Dallas girl stuffed the arm of an old coat with hay and placed it around her waist and sat near the window in the soft moonlight one sweet evening last week. The other girls in town are just dying with envy.

The last cargo of steel rails necessary to complete track-laying having arrived, the road will be finished and trains running between Elk rock and Dundee, Oct. 30th. Comfortable steamer transfer has been arranged for passengers between Elk rock and Portland until the track is laid between these points.

Miles Hendrick and Leslie Laughlin have located at Astoria. Miles will hereafter believe in fates, if he succeeds there, as it was purely accidental his going to Astoria in the first place. He had a ticket for Spokane falls, and thought himself on board the transfer boat at Portland, when in reality he was on the Telephone. He made the trip, and now is satisfied that after all he was on the right boat.

Jacob Wortman, Esq., of the First National bank of this city, has recently received from his son Jacob L. Wortman, A. M., M. D., who is in charge of the anatomical department of the medical college at Washington, a complete review of The Comparative Anatomy of the Teeth of the Vertebrata. Mr. Wortman was employed by Lee & Sons, publishers, to prepare a thorough and exhaustive treatise upon this auxiliary branch of surgery for their Encyclopedia of Dentistry. The editor of the work, Dr. Pierce congratulates his associate with approval of the highest order, and the work bears the imprint of scholarship and is regarded as the ablest effort yet in that line. From a hasty review we find the subject handled in a masterly manner, being replete with diagrams and comprehensive illustrations. The author has not only aided Lee & Sons in handling a difficult subject, but has placed the dental profession all over the world under obligations, and added another step on the ladder of fame that will soon place his name among the authorities of the age. Mr. W. may well feel proud of such a son.
