EDITORIAL NOTES.

If Mr. Blaine and Mr. Cleveland should again be the nominees for the presidential office it will be time to tell why the former would and the latter would not be elected.

Judge Shattuck astonished those in the court room last week one day by the announcement that no citizens should act as jurymen in that court whose names do not appear upon the assessment roll.

Who wants to live in a town where there is a population crowded together so closely, as to make it almost impossible to find a yard big enough in which to dry clothes. New Yorkers feel it when they emigrate from Oregon.

Never place fresh eggs near lard, fruit, cheese, fish or other articles from which any odor arises. Eggs are extremely active in absorbing power, and in a very short time they are contaminated by the particles of objects in their neighborhood by which the peculiar and exquisite taste of new laid eggs is destroyed.

The NPR roadmaster on the Kalama branch, filled up seventeen and a half miles of pole holes from Tacoma southward. The solicitor of the Mackey-Bennet company has been telegraphed to and instructed to commence legal proceedings against the perpetrators of this outrage. If any more attempts are made to prevent the new company from carrying on its work fun will begin.

The New York papers are coming out strong against all "deadheadism," more especially in the matter of free passes given by theatrical managers to newspaper offices. There are many objections to free passes, but an overwhelming argument against the system is its direct interference with personal liberty. A candid journalist stultifies himself whenever he accepts such "favors," if not in a moral sense, he loses financially by it.

Dr. George G. Green of Woobury, N. J., who has made over $1,000,000 out of the manufacture and sale of patent medicines, has not been advertising his medicine in the newspapers for the past two years, but instead has been advertising by means of almanacs and on country fences. "As a result," says Dr. Green, "I find that I have lost some of my business. I have tried every way and find that the most profitable of all is newspaper advertising, so I will return to it. This year I shall spend $300,000 in advertising."

Prince Napoleon, the grand son of Jerome Bonaparte is a guest at the Palace hotel in San Francisco, an event that is causing much comment by the press of that city with great eclat. The history of the Bonaparte family does not savor highly of any superior nobility of character. The princes' grand father, Jerome Bonaparte, married Miss Patterson an American girl, against the will of his brother, the emperor Napoleon, and was forced by imperial decree to repudiate her and marry Catharine of Wurtemberg, and the issue of that marriage was the father of the young man who is now in San Francisco.

The Philadelphia News says that Washington has so far passed beyond the time of its resuscitation that it is almost beyond gratitude; it has replaced old Versailles as a sylvan or virgin capital, created solely for court and legislative purposes. It is multiplying small resorts in its environs at present, and the river beaches down toward the bay, though generally infested by mosquitoes, are sought after, especially during a long session of congress.

Senator Jones, of Florida, still draws his salary, although he has not been present a single day since he fell in love at Detroit. There is a law which says that the secretary of the senate "shall deduct from the monthly payments of each member the amount of his salary for each day that he has been absent from the senate, unless such member assigns as the reason for such absence the sickness of himself or some member of his family." It is understood that Mr. Jones has declined to resign, and that he intends to open a law office in Detroit. Surely this is a case in which the law should be enforced. For that matter, it should be enforced in all cases or be repealed.

Gov. Hoadley impoverishes himself as bondsman for the late Archbishop Purcell of Ohio. Mannix, the assignee, of the estate, gambled $300,000 and escaped punishment. Gov. Hoadley is one of the four sureties of Mannix, who justified in $250,000; and on the 17th at a meeting of 2,000 creditors of the estate, a letter from him to the trustees was read, proposing to pay his fourth of the bond, $62,000, and in addition to turn over the stocks, sureties and mortgages given him by Mannix to insure him against loss. Hoadley is of course liable for the amount of his bond; the securities behind the bond are a personal matter and could not have been touched. By surrendering these he makes himself a poor man.

Children have rights which should be willingly accorded to them, but in this country they are rapidly forgetting the corresponding duties. Grown people seem to have no duties which children are bound to respect, and if this sort of thing progresses at the present rate, men and women will long for the parental despotism of European society, which keeps children in their proper places. This comes from lack of early training. Maternal instinct is the finest characteristic of human nature in its proper place, but a theater or a church is not the proper place for a nursery display. The child may want to go, and cry plentifully for that purpose, but a mother who has respect for the rights of other people will not inflict a child in arms upon a public meeting.

Advertisers can take their choice, either daily or weekly, at the same old rate. No advance in the price. We've come to stay, if you say so.

A Business Proposition to Everybody.

Having the most complete and best selected stock of goods on the west side, outside of Portland, as conceded by all commercial men, and my facilities for buying being equal to or better than any house here, I am prepared to furnish you with Dry Goods, Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Boots and Shoes, Groceries, Glassware and Crockery, at prices as low or lower than any house outside of Portland, and if you buy upon same terms as you do when you go to Portland, buy in quantities paying cash, I engage to compete with the retail houses of Portland on the same class of goods, save and except Sugar, Salt and such goods as freight figures up on so that it cannot be done. This does not apply to some cheney houses who would bait you by selling some special article at a sacrifice, and making it up on some other articles. IT SHALL BE STRAIGHT BUSINESS. I especially invite purchasers, to call and make an inspection of the goods and price, before buying elsewhere. All goods marked down during clearance sale will be sold at clearance sale prices. Prices of all goods will be plainly marked on them, and no clerk is authorized to make any cut or deviation on them, and will be discharged for doing so before he has authority. SMALL PROFITS AND QUICK RETURNS IS THE MOTTO. CASH IN HAND OR SHORT CREDITS MUST BE THE RULE. A. J. APPERSON.
