NEWS AND NOTES.

The monster cigarette fiend of America is M. C. Stone. He daily sends out millions of death and damnation articles.

Mrs. and Miss Dolph are home from Europe. While in Paris Miss McLane, daughter of the Minister, gave an opera partly in their honor.

It is rumored that the recent pardon given to three Mormon bishops by the President caused Kate Field to hurriedly determine to make her future home in Washington.

The boodle Alderman of New York have divided up among themselves not only a quarter of a million dollars, but exile, imprisonment, death, disgrace, delirium tremens and insanity.

The strength of hand and wrist necessary to the professional prestidigitator was illustrated by Hermann the other day. He took a new pack of ordinary linen-back cards and broke it in two, then broke one of the halves into quarters.

Speaker Carlisle, Morrison and Frank Hurd are each defeated, wiped out. The free trade democrats fared badly. A little more of this sort of endorsement and the democratic administration will be left without a spokesman in the lower house.

The strangest political performance of the year was that of the democratic state convention of Tennessee, which incorporated in its platform a declaration in favor of submitting to a vote of the people a prohibition constitutional amendment. It is the same as that recently adopted by the republican convention in Pennsylvania, and has been generally denounced by democrats.

Chicago recently had a convention of liquor manufacturers. To the surprise of many good people they adopted resolutions in favor of popular education, temperance and morality. This is a temperance breeze from an unexpected quarter. These clever rum-makers also suggested that prohibitionists direct their efforts to eliminating the evils which result from the abuse of liquor. That is, they are to stop poverty, wife beating, crime of all degrees, of insanity and deace; a job the prohibitionists will be apt to decline with a thank you. Some of these people think the greatest abuse of liquor is its existence. They would eliminate the evils by cutting off the head of the worm of the still. Alongside with the liquor manufacturers' resolutions there come reports of French experiments to determine whether water is fattening or otherwise. The latest scientific conclusion is that large quantities of water make a man neither thinner nor fatter. And both the thirst cure and the hot-water cure are regarded as violations of the natural condition of health. The only safety lies in moderation, just enough water and not too much liquor.
