Seasonable Suggestions.

Bryant's lines might almost have been written for such a season as ours:

"Let in through all the trees,
Come the strange rays; the forest depths are bright,
Their sunny colored foliage, in the breeze,
Twinkles like beams of light.
"O, Autumn! why so soon
Depart the trees that make thy forests glad,
Thy gentle wind and thy fair sunny noon,
And leave thee wild and sad?
"Ah! 't were a lot too blest,
Forever in thy colored shades to stray;
Amid the kisses of the soft south west
To roam and dream for aye;
"And leave the vain low life
That makes men mad—the tug for wealth
and power,
The passions and the cares that wither life,
And waste its little hour."

County court will resume its session to-morrow.

C. R. Cook is one of the builders upon Cook's hotel.

The death of Samnel McCutcheon of Carlton is noted.

Thanks of the ladies' Guild, though unreserved, are accepted.

The inquest will be convened again this morning at Lafayette.

Sheriff Harris was in town Saturday upon important business.

Hugh Collard has gone back upon the OCR as freight brakesman.

Prof. Stephens is making a big success of his music class at Lafayette.

Councilman T. A. Turner reached home Saturday from his eastern trip, looking fine.

Mrs. E. Russ has improved so much as to be able to ride out last Friday and Saturday.

Teams will be able to cross the bridge at Salem this week, while at work upon it.

It is said that the state board is unable to complete its levy of the annual tax waiting for Linn and Yamhill returns.

Miss Edith Martin, a pupil of the McMinnville Business college, has just turned out a fine crayon of a Holstein cow, true to life.

Visitors at the public school Friday: Rev. Henderson and wife, Misses Ella and Ida Leabo, Hattie Terry, Bena Snelling, May Cooke and Miss Retter; Mrs. Dallas; Henry Stuart and L. C. Holbrook.

Forty-three years ago last Saturday morning, Uncle Jephtha Garrison, now of this city, awoke as an Oregon immigrant at Linn city, just across the river from Oregon city. What changes time has wrought since that date.

One result of the Bartholdi statue is that it connects two of the greatest republics as one. We can now shake hands with France across the ocean, and unite in the earnest hope that the torch of Liberty may continue to enlighten the world, and may speedily light king-craft to the grave.

An officer of the English government is in the northwest buying horses for the army. There have been a great many horses taken east from this state this summer, but probably not many of them would come up to the standard required for the British army. A good horse, fifteen to sixteen hands high, will bring $150 in almost any part of Oregon.

Advertisers can take their choice, either daily or weekly, at the same old rate. No advance in the price. We've come to stay, if you say so.

Ever since we came here we have begged the farmers to write for the Reporter. A county paper to be complete should have news for all interested, and pray who in this county are more interested for what is enlightening to them in their calling than the farmers?

We learn that about 300 head of scabby sheep from Polk county were sized near Amity on Thursday by Inspector Nelson. It is hoped that now this business will receive official attention, that no further complaints may be heard. Mr. Nelson says the sheep are in bad condition, and will have to be thoroughly cured before he will allow them to be driven any further. Wonder if these are samples of the mutton consumed in Portland?

A Corvallis man has received from Hon. Thos. Canthorn, now visiting in Missouri, four hickory nuts, three real old-fashioned burr-oak acorns and several chinopins. He has been in raptures over the gifts ever since their arrival. The most interesting part of the incident is, as he expresses it, "a son of a gun of a Missouri maggot came out as a passenger in one of the acorns." The M. M. is now being embalmed and will be carefully laid away in the archives of Jess Spencer's barber shop.

Porter is playing our watermelon game on his Albany constituents, but substituting squashes. Hear him: We will give the Bulletin, one year, to the man who will bring us the largest squash between now and thanksgiving. At that time the squashes shall be weighed, and the heaviest squash takes the prize. The remainder of the squashes shall revert to us. We want a big squash pie for thanksgiving, made out of the biggest squash in Linn county, and we don't know any other way to find it. This offer holds good if only one squash makes its appearance.

With all the boasts about Liberty and the friendship between France and America since the days of Lafayette, it is a stinging shame that a daughter of the great American Gen. Grant should be so much abused by a scion of the other nation. It is said that the married life of Nellie Grant Sartoris is far more humiliating and unpleasant than has yet been made public. Mrs. Sartoris makes her home with her husband's father in the north of England. Here, according to all accounts, she is treated as a sort of a poor relation. Two rooms are set aside for the use of herself and children, and their meals are furnished, nothing else is given them, neither by the husband or Sartoris, Sr. So far as the younger Sartoris is concerned, it is said that he has not contributed a penny to his wife's support for years.

Important Stock Sale.

Posters are out for an auction sale of fat and thoroughbred stock by Mills & Howe at their Mount Stewart farm near North Yamhill on Saturday Nov. 13th. The sale includes sixty head of all ages including fifteen head suitable for the butcher. Terms cash, or approved notes at 10 per cent.

A Bargain.

The Exchange hotel of North Yamhill, containing twenty-two rooms in all, two stories high, is offered for sale for cash, or exchange for real estate. The house is well known to the traveling public, and doing a good business. The present proprietor's reason for selling is that he is too far advanced in age to attend to it, and is determined to sell if an opportunity is offered, even at a sacrifice. In fact he is bound to sell it if a customer comes. North Yamhill is as rapidly improving town as any on the west side, is the center of a large trade, the starting point for Tillamook bay, the resort for hunters and sportsmen in the summer season, and this is the best chance for a good man in the whole state. For further particulars address this office, or apply to J. Delap, North Yamhill, Oregon.

Watch This Art Gallery.

This is the time of year when Merchants all begin to show low prices. We realize that permanent trade cannot be made unless one has the correct styles and correct prices. We are selling goods at astonishingly low prices on the merits of our wares. We know that there are no better styles of Clothing, no better fitting, no better made than ours, and we believe that no one in McMinnville is selling Clothing as cheaply as we are.

We only ask an inspection of our goods and a comparison of prices.
