D. C. IRELAND & CO. PUBLISHERS,
McMinnville, Or. - Nov. 16, 1886

G. A. Wilcox is improving steadily. Mrs. D. H. Turner has returned to Portland.

Best job printing in the county at the lowest prices.

Fine fresh cranberries at the bakery this morning.

A sister of Mrs. Fair arrived from the east Saturday.

Soper Bros. are now at home in their new store building at Willamina.

The Band of Hope is preparing for a picnic at Grange hall Saturday of next week.

The ladies Guild of St. James (Episcopal) church will meet to-morrow at Mrs. Dr. Johnson's.

Rev. Mr. Fair is on the sick list, but not dangerous, although unable to fill his appointments.

The ladies aid society of the M. E. church will meet to-morrow p. m. at the residence of Miss Handley.

Will Loughary spent Sunday with "the old folks at home." He is looking as though Corvallis agreed with him.

Wm. Logan was moving yesterday into his own house, purchased from Mr. Lynch, lately occupied by Al. Hussey.

Mrs. C. W. Talmage sat up most all day Sunday. Her many friends will be pleased to hear that she is fast recovering.

Miss Hembree has succeeded in forming a class in crayon and painting, which will meet at Mr. Carlin's residence to-morrow p. m.

Salem firemen expect to turn out in force for the Firemen's Ball to be given by the McMinnville department. They will be cordially welcomed and royally treated if they come.

Prof. Price has been suffering excruciating agony with tooth ache. He was suffering so badly yesterday that he was obliged to dismiss school and pay Dr. Tucker a visit. His teeth are nearly all gone now, and he feels better.

Miss Edith Martin is succeeding admirably as an artist. One of her productions in crayon is her latest, a horse on exhibition in Rogers & Todd's window. Mr. Higgins may feel a pride in his student, and we presume he does.

Booth has had his hands full for a week back sharpening plows. It was most enough to give him a weak back, as his helper left for Prineville, but he is fixed to-day, and farmers can come right along and not wait all day for their jobs.

A letter recently received from Fort Scott, Kansas, states that they are enjoying dry, cold weather. Water has to be hauled to the city on cars, and purchased at the rate of 10 cents per barrel. Come to Oregon, crops and water never fail.

Master Henry Bettman informs his parents that he expects to spend his Christmas holiday in Vienna. He is progressing very satisfactorily with his studies in Munich, and his letters breathe the spirit of true manhood promising well for his future years.

A. Blackburn, of Carlton was in the city yesterday.

Dr. Ira Taylor, an old time resident of Stringtown, was in the city yesterday.

Geo. P. Colby, the eloquent inspirational speaker, left this place for Corvallis yesterday.

Rev. J. Hoberg will officiate at a thanksgiving service in Chehalem valley on the 25th.

No extra charge for reserved seats at Rogers & Todd's drug store, for the school exhibition Friday night.

Collards repeating shot gun is a fine success. Price brought in ten birds with it yesterday and pronounces it a first class gun.

J. O. Rogers has invented an instantaneous concave adjuster for threshing machines which will make him a fortune, and be the means of saving thousands of bushels of wheat.

The Oregonian tells a tough yarn yesterday about a wild steer traveling "upon its end over end" to Portland, from Chehalem way back in the '50's, which reminds us of Ike Doane leading a cow while he rode in Put Smith's dog cart down in Pacific county in the '70's; but ours was "a true story."

Among the residents of other parts of the county whom we met in the city yesterday on business, were Hon. R. P. Bird, state senator, Hon. Jas. McCain, Sheriff Harris, Rev. Hoberg, Judge Loughary, Editor Westerfield from Lafayette; Robt. Baird and Phil Mesner from North Yamhill, and Mr. Waddle from Amity.

This is the week of prayer. We wish we had room for Talmage's sermon to business men this week. This is the twenty-first call issued by the international committee of the YMCA for a special week of prayer, Nov. 15 to 20, for young men and the association. For twenty years the observance of this season has steadily increased, until at the present time nearly every association throughout the world is prepared to observe it.

The public school exhibition at the opera house next Friday evening, is for the benefit of the library and apparatus. There have been so far apparatus, books and charts placed in the school to the amount of $125, which are certainly almost indispensable to the progress of the school. The teachers are now in need of maps and globes, as the school is entirely devoid of them. A nominal fee for admission will be charged. Reserved seats secured at Rogers & Todd's drug store to-day.

"Orna, the Child of Sorrow," an original story, will soon be published in the Daily Reporter. It is a deeply interesting tale of the life of an immigrant girl, and abounds with much that is of a heroic nature, and places before the young ladies of the present day, a strong contrast with the manifold trials and tribulations of that roving class styled immigrants. The publishers of the Reporter omit no expense of time and money, to place before their readers the best and most attractive family paper published in Oregon, and from the manner in which new subscribers are daily added to our list, is a strong approval of our best efforts to please the public. The story will run through several numbers of the Daily.

Pupils are preparing for a school exhibition soon to be given in the interest of the library fund.

Spectators will be admitted to the gallery at the firemen's ball thanksgiving evening.

The Guild of St. James (Episcopal) church will hold a fair on Wednesday evening, December 1st.

Miss Belle Johnson, teacher of music in McMinnville and at McMinnville college. Residence corner of Second and C Streets.

The parties interested in the organization of a choral union, also all subscribers, are cordially invited to meet at Garrison opera house, this Tuesday evening, November 16th, at the hour of 7 o'clock, p. m., sharp. A general invitation extended to all who desire to participate.

The enormous producing power of this country is testified in figures which show that internal revenue collections from July 1862, to last July, were sufficient to pay the war debt at its highest figure and leave a surplus of more than six hundred millions unexpended. The aggregate amounted to over three and a half billions, a sum that staggers the comprehension with its vastness.

From all reports to the contrary notwithstanding, it is thought that corner D. C. Narver is entitled to some of the credit which the press of Portland is bestowing upon detective Singleton, for the arrest of the assassin of D. I. Corker. Before Singleton reached Lafayette, at the time the Daily Reporter announced that a clue had been found which would probably lead to the arrest of the guilty party, our worthy county officials, Narver, Harris et al, had fixed upon Marple, from whom the later convincing proofs were obtained.

VICTOR GROSS.

A Bargain.

The Exchange hotel of North Yamhill, containing twenty-two rooms in all, two stories high, is offered for sale for cash, or exchange for real estate. The house is well known to the traveling public, and doing a good business. The present proprietor's reason for selling is that he is too far advanced in age to attend to it, and is determined to sell if an opportunity is offered, even at a sacrifice. In fact he is bound to sell if a customer comes. North Yamhill is as rapidly improving town as any on the west side, is the center of a large trade, the starting point for Tillamook bay, the resort for hunters and sportsmen in the summer season, and this is the best chance for a good man in the whole state. For further particulars address this office, or apply to J. Delap, North Yamhill, Oregon.
