NEWS AND NOTES.

DeLesseps and his party of French visitors are still in this country. It is now announced that they will make a trip to the Pacific coast. They will probably come via San Francisco and return through Oregon.

Rev. N. Doane delivered an able and scientific lecture in behalf of the Willamette University at the M. E. church in this city Sunday evening. Had it been more generally known a larger attendance would doubtless have responded.

Ann L. Stephens, one of the most prolific writers of trashy novels left a snug fortune of something more than $300,000. She was always an industrious worker, but one who lived in a generous and hospitable way; besides, her charities were unbounded.

Great suffering is said to prevail in western Texas where scarcely any rain has fallen since June of last year. The crops have been ruined by the prolonged drought, and many people are on the point of starvation. The district of country thus afflicted comprises an area equal to the states of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware combined.

James Russell Lowell, according to a capable dispatch from London, is to marry the Dowager Lady Lytton, widow of the late, an aunt by marriage of the present Lord Lytton. She is said to be a fine looking and accomplished woman, about 40 years of age, and, like Lowell, has been twice married before. This news throws new light upon Lowell's excessive vexation at the publication, by Hawthorne, of his rather free remarks respecting the queen, the Prince of Wales, and the English nobility generally.

Clatsop county clamors for increased representation in the legislature. The people are entitled to it, without a doubt, but it is a question whether they would be gainers if it were allowed. Multnomah county has plenty of legislators says the Telegram, but gets very little legislation that the people would not be at least as well off without, and the same is true of most other sections. Better not to have another session of the legislature for ten years than to have the blunders of the last regular and the special session duplicated.

The Umatilla reservation is a magnificent body of land, containing in the aggregate about 165,000 acres. It has been practically lying waste for all these years, the slipshod methods of Indian farming amounting to next nothing. After establishing the Indians in severalty, it is thought that there will be 145,000 acres of land remaining, which will be sold at auction, and every dollar of the proceeds reserved for the Indians, and expended for them under government authority. The lands which the Indians retain in severalty will not be patented to them for twenty years, and are not to be taxed during that period.

In relation to Col. Frank Parker's application for the Walla Walla land office, Secretary Lamar says Parker's endorsements are of so high a character as to warrant the president giving him any position within his gift, and yet if those opposed to Parker are to be believed he ought to be imprisoned in the penitentiary for life.

We are always willing and ready to publish announcements for all the churches without charge. Why they are not furnished to us we cannot say. It is a matter wholly with pastors and ministers of the several churches. We have enough to do without running after the facts concerning Sunday services, lodge meetings, and the like.

It is thought the La Camas paper mills will be rebuilt at Oregon city. In Oregon city there's plenty of water and the company tried to obtain a water power there before purchasing at La Camas, but were unable to do so. Can they do so now? Will they try? Will the people of Oregon city hold out encouragement to them to aid them in obtaining a water power there now? These are questions for the consideration of the board of trade lately organized in that old town.

Eastern Oregon furnishes twenty per cent. of the beef sold in San Francisco and Sacramento. They go from the great pastures of Steins mountain and camp Harney, in the southern end of Grant county; and the herders are improving their stock all the time by using bulls of Durham and Hereford stock almost entirely, the Jerseys and Guernseys being better adapted to dairy uses than for the blocks; while the Galloways' long hair catches and holds so much water that, in the event of a freeze, their hides are a continuous sheet of ice, and they are the first to die from cold and inability to get out and rustle for themselves.

A Bargain.

The Exchange hotel of North Yamhill, containing twenty-two rooms in all, two stories high, is offered for sale for cash, or exchange for real estate. The house is well known to the traveling public, and doing a good business. The present proprietor's reason for selling is that he is too far advanced in age to attend to it, and is determined to sell if an opportunity is offered, even at a sacrifice. In fact he is bound to sell it if a customer comes. North Yamhill is as rapidly improving town as any on the west side, is the center of a large trade, the starting point for Tillamook bay, the resort for hunters and sportsmen in the summer season, and this is the best chance for a good man in the whole state. For further particulars address this office, or apply to J. Delap, North Yamhill, Oregon.

Subscribe for the Reporter, and pay for it when you subscribe, and we will pledge ourselves to give you more news, for less money, than any other paper in the Willamette valley. The Daily will help the weekly 100 per cent.
