

The Daily Reporter.

D. C. IRELAND & CO. PUBLISHERS,
McMinnville, Or. - Nov. 17, 1886

The correct roll of honor appears in the Reporter to-day.

The coming winter promises to be profitable for the farmers.

Geo. Burnett, formerly of this city, is a possible candidate for mayor of the capitol city.

Spectators will be admitted to the gallery at the firemen's ball Thanksgiving evening.

Cousin Sally will speak to the people next week, upon household affairs, through the Reporter.

The Guild of St. James (Episcopal) church will hold a fair on Wednesday evening, December 1st.

We like to encourage business interests in our town, but just now there is an over stock in some lines.

S. C. Force is under treatment by Dr. Calbreath for erysipelas. The regular St. Anthony sort, red hot.

Miss Belle Johnson, teacher of music in McMinnville and at McMinnville college. Residence corner of Second and C Streets.

Mrs. E. T. Messinger, of Waterloo, Iowa, has returned to Oregon and will remain here. She is now at the home of her father, J. L. Ladd, near Amity. Mr. M. expects to return also next year.

A new enterprise. A much needed want to be supplied in this city. Mr. Browne will build a neat room south side of Mrs. Stuart's millinery store, where Mrs. S. intends to keep a first class restaurant for the accommodation of the public, in connection with her millinery business.

Al. Southmayd and brother returned from a canoe voyage of five weeks from Sheridan to Astoria yesterday. They had a splendid time, and took lots of game and fish. They lost one of their best dogs in Cowlitz county from eating salmon. Al. says he would not have taken fifty dollars for the dog. Their boat was left at Portland. Their last sailing, from the head of Sauvies island to Portland, was made in one and a half hours.

We hope to be spared the infliction of another Will-Wall war in Oregon, but it is coming. Really it must be an error of the printer to say that Hon. M. P. Deady used the word Willamette as late as 1870, in an article referred to by the Astorian. Look into those old pages of the Overland again, Bro. Halloran, and also refer to files of the San Francisco Bulletin back of that date if convenient, before accusing Judge Deady of so wilful a blunder as that.

Following is a list of pupils chosen to take part in the school exhibition at the opera house Friday evening: Leon Wallace, Lester Randall, Laura Miller, Maud Randall, Irene Rummel, Hubert Toney, Cora Baker, Pearl Kirkwood, Dotha Daniels, Minnie Howell, Lizzie Jaehn, Ray Satchwell, Eva Baxter, Edah Wallace, Nellie Gardner, Forest Narver, Grace Stuart, Anna Cooper. Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Dr. Tucker, Messrs. Rogers and Price are also on the programme, and several are cognita.

Now is the time to subscribe. Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Wilcox left for Derry yesterday.

J. D. Aylward has located in Walla Walla, where he is employed in a flouring mill.

There are too many suspicious characters prowling about the country. Look out for them.

The McMinnville Business College is open every evening at 7 o'clock for students in writing, drawing and book-keeping.

A case of novelties; new, nice and low priced; just received for the holiday trade at Mrs. H. P. Stuarts, opposite Grange store.

The Telephone yesterday refers to an actual attempt at kidnapping in this city Saturday evening, of Miss Annie Deilschneider from her father's door yard. The miscreant escaped unrecognized, but there is a possibility that his arrest may be effected, as a person supposed to be the one was seen by others in the vicinity in such way as to be regarded with suspicion.

If any further evidences were wanting to establish the salubrity of climate existing here in pre-historic times, it is partly furnished by relics dug up by J. L. Stewart, of Carlton, forty-seven feet below the surface of the earth. The Register says, while digging a well on his farm, at that depth they discovered pieces of trees petrified, and near the tree was found several oranges, from the size of a marble to a full sized orange. The large orange is very perfect, and has the mark of a rough orange peeling. Mr. S. has a man working for him, that has worked a great deal in the orange country, and says that they were perfect oranges.

How many misunderstandings arise from the loose way in which business matters are talked over, and then when each party puts its own construction on the conversation, the matter is dismissed by each with the words: "All right, all right." Frequently it turns out all wrong, and becomes a question for law and the courts. More than three-fourths of the litigation of the country would be saved if people would put down their agreements in writing and sign their names to it. Each word in our language has its own particular meaning, and the memory may, by the change of its position in a sentence, convey an entirely different idea from that intended.

"Orna, the Child of Sorrow," an original story, will soon be published in the Daily Reporter. It is a deeply interesting tale of the life of an immigrant girl, and abounds with much that is of a heroic nature, and places before the young ladies of the present day, a strong contrast with the manifold trials and tribulations of that roving class styled immigrants. The publishers of the Reporter omit no expense of time and money, to place before their readers the best and most attractive family paper published in Oregon, and from the manner in which new subscribers are daily added to our list, is a strong approval of our best efforts to please the public. The story will run through several numbers of the Daily.
