NEWS AND NOTES.

The narrow gauge railroad is nearly ready for business, work is progressing rapidly, but, as yet, a time table has not been published. The general offices in Portland are over Reid's bank, corner of first and Pine.

A Paris dispatch says that Minister Goblet has notified the French academy of his approval of Chantilly, the gift of Duc d'Aumale. It is expected that the question of the recall of Duc d'Aumale will be discussed by the cabinet. President Grevy personally favors his recall.

The next congress ought to admit Dakota, Montana, and Washington with northern Idaho annexed. Political considerations ought not to prevent this act of justice. There is no certainty of advantage to either party. Dakota is republican, Montana democratic, and Washington doubtful.

The famous Jones country calf case has just been disposed of by the supreme court of Iowa. This is one of the most remarkable cases on the records of American courts, and furnishes a striking illustration of what an expensive luxury a little satisfaction obtained in legal form may prove to be. Twelve years ago a Green county farmer went to Jones county and bought some calves of a man named Johnson. They were probably stolen, but Johnson claimed to have bought them from a third party. Johnson was prosecuted by the anti-horse thief association, but was acquitted. He sued for ten thousand dollars damages, and the case has been tried five times, and each time, except one, he has received a verdict for from three thousand dollars to seven thousand five hundred dollars, which was always set aside. He appealed to the supreme court, and the verdict has been reversed, giving him no damages. The court costs are now three thousand three hundred dollars, while the other expenses on both sides amount to at least twenty thousand dollars, and several parties have been ruined by the expenses of the case. The value of the calves was fifty dollars.

"Orna, the Child of Sorrow," an original story, will soon be published in the Daily Reporter. It is a deeply interesting tale of the life of an immigrant girl, and abounds with much that is of a heroic nature, and places before the young ladies of the present day, a strong contrast with the manifold trials and tribulations of that roving class styled immigrants. The publishers of the Reporter omit no expense of time and money, to place before their readers the best and most attractive family paper published in Oregon, and from the manner in which new subscribers are daily added to our list, is a strong approval of our best efforts to please the public. The story will run through several numbers of the Daily.

RING THE CHANGES.

Ring Out the Old - Ring in the New.

In view of some changes in the business world, as well as among producers and laborers, it is well that we should one and all think of our own interests as well as that of others, and once in a while call a halt, take account of what stock we have on hand, whether it be in cattle, horses, merchandise or farms, and ascertain for ourselves our present condition and future prospects, and make such changes from time to time as each of us, after mature deliberations, find our better judgments may indicate. In view of these things I shall introduce to you on or about New Years, New Styles, New Goods, and a Radical change in the management of the Business which I trust may prove to our mutual advantage. It is with this object in view that it to be adopted. It will, upon investigation, be found simple and just to one and all. The time is past when a man can sell goods on one year or for an indefinite period, and compete with those who sell exclusively for cash. I shall on or about Jan. 1st introduce to you a system possessing all the advantages of both the credit and the cash systems, and none of the disadvantages of either.

A. J. APPERSON.

Special Notice.

In view of the change soon to take place, I desire all accounts to be settled by the 1st of Jan. A word to the wise is sufficient. Call and settle.
