Our Farmers Club.

When the more pressing work is over, give horses a good run on grass, and give grain enough to keep them in good heart. Brooding mares and young stock must be brought into good heart for going well through the winter.

A nest of bumble bees, in a big clover field is worth $20 to the owner, for these insects are the chief agents in fertilizing the blossoms, thereby insuring a heavy crop of seed. In Australia there were no bumble bees of our kind, and they could not raise clover seed there until they imported some bumble bees.

The schools of the country, although inferior to graded town and city schools, turn out abler men and women; and while the city-bred are, as a rule, not much heard of in later life, the once country boys, who wore plain clothes, had few books, but studied them throughout, and who were trained to labor and to wait, are always the leaders of thought.

From the scant history of pleuropneumonia and the means of its spread, we learn that in every case where it has broken out among native herds, the cause has been distinctly traced to some individual cow of foreign importation. A report of the state veterinarian of Missouri to the agricultural college furnishes the following among the many instances on record: "By means of a Prussian cow it was introduced into Holland in 1835, into Ireland by a Dutch cow four years later; into England by both Dutch and Irish cattle in 1833; by means of English cattle into Sweden and Denmark still five years later; into Norway by infected Ayrshire cattle in 1859; was first observed at Cape of Good Hope in 1854; went to Australia by means of an English cow in 1858; and it is believed to have made its appearance in this country at Brooklyn, Long Island, during the year 1843, being brought there by an English cow, etc." This is sufficient evidence to show the caution necessary in the importation of breeding cattle from distant countries, and to establish in the minds of breeders of improved stock more reliance on our native breeds. We have no record of an instance of the breaking out of this dread disease among our native stock unless by importation. Let dairymen, therefore, look to their own herds for stock and raise such as prove of goodly promise and by weeding out such as breed back or show defects, and it will soon be found that we shall possess a breed of home raised cattle free of disease and equal to any other in productiveness.

The Firemen's ball will be the finest affair of the year. Music by coachwhip string band, and supper by the popular caterer L. M. Cook. The program is fine.

RING THE CHANGES.

Ring Out the Old - Ring in the New.

In view of some changes in the business world, as well as among producers and laborers, it is well that we should one and all think of our own interests as well as that of others, and once in a while call a halt, take account of what stock we have on hand, whether it be in cattle, horses, merchandise or farms, and ascertain for ourselves our present condition and future prospects, and make such changes from time to time as each of us, after mature deliberations, find our better judgments may indicate. In view of these things I shall introduce to you on or about New Years, New Styles, New Goods, and a Radical change in the management of the Business which I trust may prove to our mutual advantage. It is with this object in view that it to be adopted. It will, upon investigation, be found simple and just to one and all. The time is past when a man can sell goods on one year or for an indefinite period, and compete with those who sell exclusively for cash. I shall on or about Jan. 1st introduce to you a system possessing all the advantages of both the credit and the cash systems, and none of the disadvantages of either.

A. J. APPERSON.

Special Not

In view of the change soon to take place, I desire all accounts to be settled by the 1st of Jan. A word to the wise is sufficient. Call and settle.
