Public School Exhibition.

The exhibition last Friday evening drew an immense crowd of friends and patrons of the school to the Opera house. The exercises opened with a "Song of welcome" by the school. The programme was then followed out with few exceptions. Elon Wallace has a good voice and did well in his recitation entitled "Recollections." Maud Washburne was the sweetest little "Milk maid" we ever saw. Lester Daniels won hearty applause from the audience for declaiming so well. Hubert Toney, Pearl Kirkwood, Minnie Howell, Dotha Daniels and Lizzie Jaehn did excellently. The instrumental duett by Priscilla and Chas. Galloway was well executed, and they were also heartily applauded. Maud Randall, Irene Rummell, Laura Miller, Ambie Wright and Lizzie Cline recited nicely. Ray Satchwell could not have done better in his recitation entitled "What is a minority." Forest Narver has a good voice and could be heard distinctly all over the hall. Cynthitha Fellows always does well, but last evening she really excelled all former efforts in rendering the recitation entitled "Would you?" The quartet by Mesdames Campbell and Tucker, Messrs. Rogers and Price was greatly enjoyed. We are sorry we could not learn the names of the four little girls that spoke "In the morning." "The little Philosophers" was splendid. These little girls have good voices, and surprised all present by doing more than well. In the song, "Our Baby" the alto singing by little Florence Hamnett was beautiful. She possesses a wonderful voice for one so young. The dialogue of Ralph Story and Wirt Gardner was received and created lots of fun. Ina Gooper and Gracie Stuart in their recitations did splendidly, and their many friends have just reason to be proud of them. Cora Baker has a sweet voice and Eva Baxter was independent to perfection. In "Jarley's wax works," Mrs. Jarley was represented by Miss Mary Clemmins; Chinese giant, Morris Sweet; Welsh Dwarf, Gracie Stuart; Martha Bangs, Lizzie Cline; Mrs. S. A. Winslow, Cynthitha Fellows; Blue Beard, Hallie Powell; Lord Ryon, John Manee; Capt. Kidd, Walter Baker; Lady Blousabella, Eva Baxter; Mermaid, Ola Burt; The Boy stood on the burning deck, Forest Narver; The sleeping Beauty, Josie Gardner; Siamese Twins Perry Leabo and Xerxes Gant. All sustained their characters well. Katie Gorman as "Little Nell" deserves much credit and praise. Little Helen Calbreath won the heart of every one present. The dialogue entitled "We are four" reflects great credit on those little girls. The song "Now we are happy children" was very good. The dialogue entitled "That naughty boy," Daisy Young as Widow Blinker, Sammie Symons as Cyrus, her naughty boy, and so he was, Nora Cooper as Sally Hascom, and Nellie Gardner as Kitty, was greeted with merry laughter. Mr. John Knight then favored the audience with a song and as he so captivated 'um all, he was not allowed to rest until he recited in the most comical manner, "My Mother-in-law." The dialogue, "Mrs. Jonas Jones," was very interesting. Charles Hodson, as Jonas

Jones, gave the young men present some good advice. Cora Baker made a bewitching bride, Anna Bynum a good mother-in-law, and Geo. Clark Mr. Over Due, did well. Ralph Brown being a minister just suited him. "Kitty's Funeral" brought down the house, Gertie Pond has a clear good voice, and Gracie Stuart, as the orator, was too funny for anything. The following girls composed the funeral procession, Lena Baker, Inez Eccleston, Georgia Storey, Lela Vanatta, Lillie Adams, and Ambie Wright. "Good Night" was then sung by the school. It is next to impossible to do full justice to all. The entertainment was a success in every respect, and our people should be proud of it.

Singular but True.

People are terribly forgetful sometimes. We once heard of a man so forgetful that he forgot his own name. But there is one remarkable thing about people who go to Bishop & Kay's to buy their clothing. They get such goods fits and fine goods and low prices, that they do not forget it, but go round regularly every year to lay in another supply. When you read this you will never forget it. It will make indelible impressions on your mind, and when you want anything in the clothing line you will go straight to Bishop & Kay's and buy it.

A Bargain.

The Exchange hotel of North Yamhill, containing twenty-two rooms in all, two stories high, is offered for sale for cash, or exchange for real estate. The house is well known to the traveling public, and doing a good business. The present proprietor's reason for selling is that he is too far advanced in age to attend to it, and is determined to sell if an opportunity is offered, even at a sacrifice. In fact he is bound to sell it if a customer comes. North Yamhill is as rapidly improving town as any on the west side, is the center of a large trade, the starting point for Tillamook bay, the resort for hunters and sportsmen in the summer season, and this is the best chance for a good man in the whole state. Watch This Art Gallery.

This is the time of year when Merchants all begin to show low prices. We realize that permanent trade cannot be made unless one has the correct styles and correct prices. We are selling goods at astonishingly low prices on the merits of our wares. We know that there are no better styles of Clothing, no better fitting, no better made than ours, and we believe that no one in McMinnville is selling Clothing as cheaply as we are.

We only ask an inspection of our goods and a comparison of prices.
