

The boys are happy, everything moves along fine for the Firemen's ball.

Mikado hair pins and Astrakhan trimmings at the store of Miss F. E. Russ.

Button, button, who's got the button? F. W. Redmond has it. Call and see his stock going off like hot cakes.

Miss Belle Johnson, teacher of music in McMinnville and at McMinnville college. Residence corner of Second and C Streets.

E. B. Fellows put a modern front into his Third street store yesterday, which will greatly add to the attractive display of his stock.

J. B. Fuson has a pair of large sized, brown colored, matched Clydesdale gelding colts, four years old next spring, which he will sell cheap for cash. Address at Dayton, Oregon.

The drama, "Past Redemption," drew a crowded house Friday evening, many persons from a distance being present. It was finely rendered, some splendid acting being done. By request the play will be repeated Saturday evening the 26th.

In addressing a jury, the other day, Roscoe Conkling thus alluded to a red nosed witness who, he thought had lied in the witness chair: "Gentlemen I think I can see that witness now—his mouth stretching across the wide desolation of his face, a fountain of falsehood and a sepulcher of rum."

A. J. Apperson's Thanksgiving turkey flew high in an effort to escape, and after alighting upon the roof of Mayor Cowles' house, started off in the direction of the Central hotel. Its flight was intercepted by Clarence Turner, and it was captured and returned to its cage to await its fate at the appointed hour.

The WCTU had intended to discontinue their Sunday evening entertainments for the next few months, but by special request of a number of friends, have reconsidered the question, and will hold them once a month, as heretofore, using the third Sunday evening instead of the first. SELINA.

A limited number only of this mammoth edition, have been retained on hand. Parties who have the welfare of the community at heart, should secure one or more copies and send to friends abroad. Owing to the large expense incident in the production, we have placed the price at 10 cents per copy, or three for a quarter. It is the greatest achievement in country journalism yet produced, east or west.

J. B. Fuson called yesterday while in the city. From him we learned further particulars concerning the Dayton fire. The mill belonged to Mr. Ball, of North Yamhill, and he had bargained it to a Mr. Byres on the day previous to the fire. He, (Byres) had gone there to remove the machinery, and while there the mill was burned along with his team. He claims to have been robbed of $71 the same night, hence he concludes that it was fired by some one for the purpose of plunder. The loss is about $1,000. The bridge across the river was in danger, but prompt effort saved it. Mr. F. and others left their farms and went to the rescue.

J. Harv. Henderson has Garrison's pure full cream cheese on sale.

Call at Collard's shooting gallery and make a note of the artistic pictures on exhibition in the window.

Geo. W. Jones and John Wortman each possess an elegant $70 shot gun, Damascus barrels, from the east through the agency of W. F. Collard. Uncle Andy Shuck also has a nice one for $25 to go with his new duck boat.

"Our city charter is plenty good enough," says one citizen. "Taint neither," says another; but the lack of interest taken by the mass of people seems to indicate that whether it be good or bad it is all we will get.

Capt. Jerome, a pioneer master of the Wallamet, is lying at the point of death at his home of pyemia. Mrs. E. B. Fellows of this city, an old time friend of the family, is with them at present. Capt. Jerome's illness comes from blood poisoning which followed a recent accident which jammed one of his legs.

Ladies' Cloaks.

These cloaks have got to go because I am not going to winter them over this summer, so if you want a long cloak or a short cloak, a big cloak or a little cloak, a dear cloak or a cheap cloak, a tight fitting or Miss Fitting cloak, or any kind of a fit in cloaks, go to Appersons.

Tea Imports.

A. J. Apperson has advices from Yokohama to the effect that he has now en route another shipment of that famous Unity tea. The Japan Syndicate, from whom his advices are received, say that this tea has been cured by the perfection process, is shipped in Perfection Cans, and is superior in every way to other Japan teas, whether pan or basket fired.
