A Business Session.

It is thought by all who have a thought to bestow upon the subject, that the present session of the assembly, now convened at Salem, is to be a business session. There is no question concerning the choice of a United States senator to agitate the minds of the law-makers. For the first time in several years the legislative and executive departments of the state government are representatives of opposing political ideas. This fact will put the law-making power on their good behavior. Their enactments will be scanned by a critical eye, and perhaps the constitutional prerogative of the veto will be interposed often. The session should be marked by a careful review of defective enactments and the incorporation into the body of the laws such amendments as observation and experience show to be necessary. Especial care should be taken to avoid, as far as possible, the pernicious custom of special legislation, whether in the direction of private franchises, or otherwise. Gov. Pennoyer will want to make his record as much upon the legislation which he approves as upon that to which he shall offer the executive objection. The republican legislators will make their record upon the legislation projected and offered as much as upon that which passes the final test of approval. Thus both sides will be put to their best, and the prospect favors the people.

The editor of an exchange says: "The longer we run a newspaper and write about people and events, the more we realize how utterly impossible it is to scratch every man where he itches the most."

The Statesman thinks that no good woman, well known in Salem or elsewhere, who would make a good clerk, should be "pushed out merely because she is a woman." Of course not; who ever supported such a proposition? That isn't the question before the house at all.

Col. Parke isn't so hard on the northwest as the threat of ten days ago lead us to suppose he would be. He worms himself into a hole, and then pulls the hole in after him, by saying he has no personal grudge against Maj. Jones, but that he could not approve a plan for work from an officer whose administrative skill, capacity and ability are not satisfactory to him. Capt Powell, he says, has had more experience in this kind of work, and for this and other reasons is eminently more qualified than Maj. Jones for a work of such magnitude. He is very anxious to be understood as being more friendly to the Pacific northwest than even our own delegation in congress; but the absurdity of this proposition is its own refutation, to say nothing of his acts which jeopardized federal appropriations, so very much needed here.

W. H. Watkins has a commission as collector of customs for the Osooyos district. Now if Noltner could be sent as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Kawshalka, it is suggested that the last of the democratic wheel horses of note in this state would be comfortably adjusted to federal harness.

Wonder if it isn't a "Jim Cummings" who is writing about the Mickel affair over the nom de plume of Mike. His gab may lead to a thread which may unravel the mystery of old man Mickel's disappearance from Portland on the 4th of December.

On joint ballot there is 17 republican majority in the Oregon assembly. The senate stands 19 republican and 11 democratic; the house has 34 republicans and 27 democrats.

Which one? The Vindicator says that W. S. Ladd has given up the bore on his well as a failure.

Robert J. Marsh is now the sole proprietor of the Dalles Sun, one of our very best Inland Empire exchanges.

The Murat Halstead and Henry Watterson political combination is emphatically denied.

A fine string of brook trout were caught in the mill creek at Sheridan last Saturday.

Dr. J. A. White has sold the Oregon city Enterprise to E. M. Rands.

The introduction of soap, it is said, is doing much to civilize the people of the Holy Land. A large soap factory has been established on the site of ancient Shechem, and the people are beginning to use it on their persons instead of trying to eat it as they did at first. Along with the introduction of soap other reforms are going on. Bethlehem has been rebuilt and the streets are lighted with gas. Ceserea is having a building boom. Nazareth is becoming the headquarters of big olive oil speculators. Corner lots in Joppa are going up with a rush, and real estate in Mount Carmel is largely held by speculators for an advance. All around Shechem there is a lively demand for good soap fat, and the sleepy inhabitants of Ramoth Gilead think of building a glue factory. Jerusalem is waking up also. It has a street cleaning bureau, big clocks on its public buildings, and its suburbs are being built up rapidly. Even in the vale of Gehenna the price of land has gone up. The ladies of Jerusalem take all the Parisian fashion journals and know all the latest style of hair dressing.

WHAT WE GUARANTEE

FOR THE DRESS GOODS OF OUR MANUFACTURE.

To be made from the very best material, by skillful workmen, with the latest and most approved machinery, and to be the cheapest goods in the market when service is considered.

Are so thoroughly finished that they can be worn in damp weather, or in a shower, without fear of being ruined by curling or shrinking.

The manufacturing, dyeing and finishing is done in such a manner, that the goods can be washed if desired without the least injury to fabric.

Our goods are wool dyed, and colors as fast as the purest dyes and greatest care and skill can make them.

Goods show just what they are and will be until worn out, as there is no weighting, stiffening, or artificial lustre used to increase the weight or finish; as is the case with a large class of goods in the market, but which disappears after a few days' service.

As manufacturers we have taken great pains to supply an article in every way reliable, and unsurpassed by similar goods, either foreign or domestic, and would respectfully ask an examination of the various styles and shades to be found on sale by merchants who are agents for the goods.

All goods of our manufacture should bear the name and trade mark of
