

The Daily Reporter.

D. C. IRELAND & CO. PUBLISHERS.

McMinnville, Or. - - Jan. 11, 1887

A SPLENDID CHANCE.

Any person sending us four subscribers for one year each, with $6.00 in cash, will receive an extra copy for one year. This is a rare opportunity for getting the best weekly paper west of the Rocky mountains free.

The firemens fair will be February 22d.

Choral Union meet this evening at the residence of Hon. Wm. Campbell.

John W. Baker is going across the line for six weeks, for his health, into Washington territory.

It was 6000 bushels of wheat, mostly owned by Gilson Bros. Hon. Wm. Galloway took at 79 cents sacked.

The finder of a red silk handkerchief, lost in this city yesterday, will be thankfully rewarded on leaving it at this office.

W. F. Collard is pronounced by sportsmen one of the very best mechanics for handling fire arms. His choke boring is a big success.

Prof. Jordan took charge of the principal room at the Public school in this city yesterday. He has the appearance and the experience of a competent teacher.

Hon. W. D. Fenton and J. E. Magers joined the third house at Salem last evening. They were transported by rail to Independence, thence by steamer.

Dr. H. V. V. Johnson met with a painful accident Saturday by cutting his left thumb a deep gash with his knife while taking up some plants in his garden. He officiated at St. James church, however, on Sunday, and will in a few days be able to "pail the cow" as before.

The Corvallis Gazette says two young men by the name of Rowland came up from McMinnville last week for a hunting and fishing expedition on Mary's river. They had a complete outfit, consisting of a boat, fishing tackle, guns, traps and camping equipment and were prepared in every way to "make fur fly."

C. W. Talmage has placed us under obligation to him for a fine mess of fresh lettuce, just plucked from his garden January 10th, 1886. This is truly a land of almost perpetual spring. There are yet plenty of opportunities open to the home-seekers, and men of means, of energy and push.

W. A. Munly has been selected as Gov. Pennoyer's private secretary.

We hear it reported that Miss Gillie Shobe is dead, but have no particulars.

Deilschneider is going out of business. His entire stock is for sale at cost.

Minnie Techau formerly of this city is now Mrs. G. E. Ellist of Portland.

A brother of Mr. Bergevan is visiting from Marion county, a sufferer from dropsy.

A. J. Nelson is on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. G. W. Hunsaker, at Scio, Linn county.

That "zinc" over at Hodsons is galvanized iron. But as we had limited experience in such matters the error was natural.

The ladies Guild of the Episcopal Church will meet at the cheerful cottage home of Mrs. Jas. Turner to-morrow p. m. at the usual hour.

A disastrous wreck occurred off the coast of Virginia Sunday, but as there are so many disastrous wrecks occurring now off the coast of Oregon, we really cannot devote time and space to disasters so far from home.

Our Literary Editor is overrun with questions to be answered. Here is one which serves as sample: Q. Who was the author of the quotation: he laughed so heartily that he burst his jocular vein?" A. Mrs. Partington, of course.

One year ago last month the weather was so beautiful in this city that a silly butterfly ventured from its chrysalis and flitted about our office window; was it captured and sent to Vermont as a trophy. Last week a similar incident occurred in Portland.

The Dalles Itemizer says: Our young townsman, Otho Williams, has bought out the tailoring establishment of A. M. Taggart, McMinnville. Mr. Williams has been in the employ of Taggart for some time, and is known among McMinnville people as a good workman. We wish him every success in the world.

It is reported that a 17-year-old daughter of Mr. Hess, residing near Newberg, Yamhill county, committed suicide by drowning herself. The girl had threatened several times to take her life, but gave no reason therefor. She was in good health and had just finished a day's washing before starting for the river. We are without particulars.

Enterprising Journalism.

Newport News.

D. C. Ireland & Co., of the Yamhill Reporter, issued the finest holiday edition of any of our exchanges.

Eugene Register.

The proprietors of the Yamhill Reporter did themselves credit in the publication of a fine New Year number.

Salem Statesman.

The Reporter was a superb issue New Year week. Reflects great credit upon its enterprising publishers.

Dallas Itemizer.

"Yamhill county against the world," shouted our devil as he caught sight of the large New Year edition of the Yamhill Reporter, and well he might for it was a 64-column issue chock full of Yamhill county, and all about it. Shake, Brothers.

The job department of the Reporter is now pushed to its fullest capacity. Our kind friends throughout the county have long since recognized the superior printing emanating from the Reporter office as surpassing in workmanship and neatness anything produced in the northwest. One individual order of 2,000 letter heads and 1,000 bill heads was filled, and is now in the hands of the binder in a few hours after being received. Receipt books, lodge books, envelopes, opera house coupons, and letter heads are constantly taking their turn on our lightning presses, while five employes endeavor to keep pace with the machinery. A large invoice of printers stationary will soon be on hand, and as for competition, be it Tom, Dick or Harry, the publishers of the Reporter defy it, and will place better work on the market at lower rates than any responsible printing establishment outside of Portland. A word to the wise, etc. We are not talking to hear our own music. Drop in and see for yourselves, Selah!

Says the Astorian: The Idaho came in from the North yesterday and fired an arrival gun that made an unusually loud report. There is never any trouble in learning the exact time of the Idaho's arrival. Whenever there sounds a report that shakes the glass in the windows and sends the mute little fishes in deadly fear to the bottom of the stream, then it is a dead sure thing that the Alaska steamer is ferninst the city.

Observations.

The installation of the Occidental Lodge, on Thursday, at the Opera house, is not a public affair. Guests will be invited.

Dr. Taylors method of treating piles is the latest and most approved by the profession and although not entirely without pain there's no additional pain and the cure is permanent and complete. Call at Dr. Johnsons office and consult him, it will cost you nothing unless he treats you and cures you. This is no humbug.

Occidental Lodge, No. 30, I. O. O. F., will have an installation and supper, at Garrison Opera house, Thursday evening, January 13th, 1887. All members of the order and their families, are cordially invited, also all parties receiving invitations signed by a member of the order. An interesting programme will be arranged.

John J. Sax has his chop mill in running order, and will chop feed for $2 per ton. If this does not suit the customer call and get a special rate.

Mrs. Breon is prepared to receive a few day boarders. Three gentlemen can be furnished with rooms. Corner of Third and H streets, last house on the right before crossing railroad track.

Advertisements, etc., intended for publication in The Weekly Reporter must be handed in Tuesday morning. We cannot in future deviate from this rule.

Bring on your job work. We are now prepared to do job work in the latest and most approved style of the art.

Miss Belle Johnson, teacher of music in McMinnville and at McMinnville college. Residence corner of Second and C Streets.
