McMinnville, Or. - - Jan. 17, 1887

Patti is coming to Portland soon with her full support. Costumes and all.

Clyde Cubine, of Centralia, grand son of S. F. Harding, is in the city on a visit.

The Prohi* is going to Portland, where W. D. Lyman will be installed as editor.

House bill No. 18, is the title of the measure people of this county are most interested in.

A dispatch from Salem Saturday, informed relatives of Mrs. W. T. Newby that she was very ill.

One year ago last Saturday we had a big snow storm in this city. Last Saturday it was very mild.

The sunken steamer Beutley, at Albany bridge, has been raised and taken to East Portland for repairs.

When the steamers connect at Independence, you can get over to Salem from here in about three hours easily.

Messrs. Little and Laughlin came home Friday evening to spend their Sunday vacation. They return to-day.

N. J. Rowland is acting constable for Justice Harding's court in south McMinnville, under an appointment of the court.

Mr. Fellows is getting the carpets ready for the new offices of Hon. W. D. Fenton, in the Yamhill County Bank building.

The Odd Fellows wound up the week by going over to Amity Saturday and installing officers during the day. They had a jolly good time.

Trains on the P and WVRR leave Newberg for Portland at 9 a. m. and 1:15 p. m., and arrive from Portland at 12:45 p. m. and 6:30 p. m.

Beef is advancing, wholesalers now ask and receive from 3 to 3½ cents. Our local markets have not put the price up, but are considering the subject.

Miles Hendricks of Astoria, is paying his old home at Wheatland a visit. Miles looks fine, showing that it agrees with him to live within sound of the dashings of the deep sad sea.

A postal to L. Bettman, from his son at Leipzig, told of the great storm over Europe at Christmas tide. Henry says he never saw so much snow in all his life; two and a half feet deep and no mails for four days.

Stand by the Petition.

In a time like the present, when it is important to preserve the integrity of the principles you advocate, to be assured of success, there is no other alternative than that of standing for the right. There should be no doubt whatever, but that the people's representatives in the legislative assembly from this county will do so. The only question involved is that of strict integrity. The people have stated by their petitions just what they want, in this county seat matter, and it is for the purpose of assuring our delegation that nothing else will suit the people, that we direct their attention to the petition as the text for their action at every step in this important contest. We hope that we may be incorrectly informed when we are told that the measure is apt to meet with hostility in the senate; we want so believe that Messrs. Watts and Bird realize their position as representatives of the people, and understand too well the possible disasters of a fatal step at this time. Stick to the petition, gentlemen; and all will be well. Depart from it, and there is no telling what the result may be.

Edwin Russ informed us on Saturday last that he was going to fence building, in spite of the storm; within an hour or two it stopped snowing, the sun came out warm, and we credited Edwin with success at perhaps fencing old Boreas out of the city at least.

Answering an inquiry as to prospects of legislation on the NPR forfeiture bills, Senator Dolph states that time and again he urged the conference committee to submit to the house the disagreements of the senate in order that he may submit his report. So far the house refrain from acting.

A lady friend received a beautiful gift of a pair of home made silk mittens from Chicago last week, and a splendid book devoted to art topics. These came from a dear, good girl, however; hence it cannot be charged that the mittens are any infringement upon the patent recipe of the ladies' Guild of this city as an antidote for that passion excited by excellence, beauty, or all that is born of affection, commonly called Love. These mittens are for use.

Printer's Ink is King.

There is a host of men who boast
Of powder, cotton, steam;
But every hour the mighty power
Of printer's ink is seen.
It moves the world as easily
As does some mighty thing.
And men proclaim in despot's ears
That printer's ink is king.

The man of gold, of wealth untold,
Printer's ink may scorn,
Or knit his brow, nor deign to bow
To one so lowly born;
But printer's ink has built its throne
Where minds their tributes bring.
And God's most gifted intellects
Shout "Printer's ink is king."

King of the world, of thought refined,
No abject slave it claims;
Where superstition's victims pine,
It bursts their servile chains.
In every clime, in coming years,
Will men proud anthems sing,
And round the world the echoes float,
That printer's ink is king.

Hon. Wm. Galloway returned from the capital Saturday.

Eastern Oregon begins to talk of an ice factory, to secure its next summer supply.

The Keady liquor law was declared unconstitutional upon a very thin margin for law, but Capt. Humphrey says a democratic court was bound to overthrow it under the national democratic platform against "sumptuary laws."

With the mercury at 28 deg. below zero, and the winds tearing down the streets like a maddened pack of polar bears, no wonder people in Indiana, Illinois and thereabout, thinking of us here, are reminded to send us mittens and fur capes. But though the remembrance is duly appreciated, the articles are valueless.

Imported suckers, carp, were exposed for sale in Portland last week. They are unfit for food unless kept in clear running water for at least a month before killing time. W. S. Failing ought to know that much. This carp and shad folly in Oregon will yet work a tough hardship upon the vital interests of the salmon trade. Both are worthless for table use in any shape, and shad are mortal enemies to salmon.

Miss Palms met Senator Jones on the streets of Detroit the other day and did not faint or scream for the police. The senator's suite is progressing favorably. Nothing like patience and perseverance. The senator, who has borne in silence the combined taunts of the newspaper press of the country, may yet enjoy the lady's millions.

Observations.

A good stock range of 160 acres, house and barn, can be bought for $500; on county road. Apply at this office.
