McMinnville, Or. - - Jan. 24, 1887

Mr. and Mrs. Hiatt have returned from Washington county.

Be sure and attend the board of trade meeting this evening.

Multners's St. Charles furniture sale will be Feb. 7th. See ad.

The high tides came to time along the coast according to program.

The Oregon pioneers will hold their next annual reunion at Portland, June 15th, 1887.

John A. Monroe, a pioneer of 1845, was buried on Saturday from his home, near Carlton.

A correct necrological record of 1886 would include the civil law—murdered by its nurse.

E. L. Peckham has taken the Petch hotel at the foot of the mountains, on the Tillamook road.

Uncle Jephtha will pay $2.50 toward the funeral of the sneak thief who stole his meat hooks from in front of the Eurisko, Friday night.

From the appearance of things in and about The Cook House this morning, it will be but a few days when mine host, L. H. Cook, will be at home in those elegant new quarters to minister to the most fastidious taste of the traveling public.

The Telegram mentions a Marion county man who sold his wheat crop, 6,000 bushels, for 71½ cents. Yamhill sees him and goes him 3½ cents better. Didn't you see our report more than a week since, where Hon. Wm. Galloway paid 79 cents for Gilson Bros. et. al., nearly 10,000 bushels.

A gentleman from Polk county came to this city a few days since to have some work done, and to attend to some business. He reports to us that a Bunco steerer never worked harder with a stranger in a cosmopolitan city to steer him off his course than did certain disinterested gentlemen (so-called) in McMinnville, to direct his steps aside from the path he had mapped out before coming here. We have been aware, for a long time of the fact that there is a "rule or ruin" gang in this city, and sooner or later somebody will take pleasure in mopping up the mud of Third street with one or two of their miserable carcasses.

Legislative Notes.

Mr. Dimick has introduced a bill, House No. 95, providing for removal of the body of the late Gov. Gibbs to Oregon, and burial thereof.

Senate joint resolution No. 5, asking congress to prohibit foreigners from using public domain for stock ranges, was concurred in by the house.

In the senate, Watts and Cauthorne were excused from serving on the committee to visit the normal school at Monmouth. Barin and Irvine were appointed in their stead.

Gov. Pennoyer's first appointment to office was a Lane county black republican, A. G. Hovey, notary public. It would seem that in the appointment of notaries public, at least, allegiance to no particular party, anti-Chinese or otherwise, is necessary.

All bills referring to the reapportionment of the state are referred to a committee instructed to report a basis for a reapportionment of the state into representative and senatorial districts. It consists of Hare, Miller, Wagner, and Cauthorne, on the part of the senate, and Goodsell, Laughlin, Benjamin, Mitchell, and Biggs, on the part of the house.

A few who want to "fight Portland," imagine that the state board of immigration is a Portland institution, hence are determined to beat it, to all of which the Telegram suggests: It would perhaps be well enough to stop some of the minor leaks in the state treasury, as this one and the state fair subsidy, and at the same time put a stop to two well organized and persistent growls.

Hon. L. T. Barin has introduced in the senate a bill providing for a repeal of the present road law, and a substitute provides: That the county court shall levy a tax not exceeding three mills with no deduction for indebtedness, and a poll tax of two dollars upon every male citizen between 21 and 50 years of age, and apportion the same. Each election precinct to elect a supervisor for three years and whose duty shall be to supervise the roads, and receive two dollars a day for his services. He may hire labor or contract for work by the job, and must put up sign boards at all obstructions. The bill embodies many good features which we hope to see acted upon.

The Benton Leader prints a burlesque of the inaugural, "the first rough draft," which the Oregonian calls "a clever thing." Yes; a very clever thing.

Capt. J. H. D. Gray is true grit. The legislative assembly having refused to appoint a committee to visit Astoria, he invited about 15 members to go as his guests, which invitation was accepted. The party left by the steamer Lurline at 6 o'clock Friday night, to return in time to be in their seats at the capitol this morning.

There are "two sides to every question" except when it opposes Us; is the sentiment of the venal press of this latter day. The attack upon Senator Siglin was wholly uncalled for; and instead of smiting somebody's face for it, he did just the square thing by fetching them up to the bar of the senate so far as they may be reached. That was just the thing to do, the cry of "boodle" to the contrary notwithstanding.

The next congress will perhaps amend existing laws, so that the college at this city may become a signal service station.

Fred Schwatka's experiences on snow shoes in the Yellowstone National Park are more severe than his Arctic traveling.

The inter-state commerce bill passed the house, as it passed the senate, last Friday. It awaits the approval of President Cleveland.

A meeting of the Y. P. D. club is to meet at the office of the president, W. D. Fenton, this evening at 7 sharp. Business of importance to all.

Attention! Merchants, manufacturers and Professional men! There will be a meeting at the Council Chamber, Monday January 24th, at 7½ o'clock for the purpose of organizing a Board of Trade. All are invited to attend.
