

The Daily Reporter.

D. C. IRELAND & CO. PUBLISHERS.

McMinnville, Or. - - Feb. 4, 1887

Don't forget the auction sale at the St. Charles hotel Monday.

House bill, No. 18, was read first time in the senate on Thursday.

Jones & Co. are shipping a fine lot of lumber to McCoy today.

Little Miss Nellie Logan paid the Reporter a very pleasant visit this afternoon.

Yamhill county will lose one senator and one representative by the new apportionment bill.

The literary exercises in Miss Martin's room were postponed one week, in consequence of inclement weather.

Capt. Lafollett's bill to aid the Willamina and Netarts road passed the second reading in the house yesterday.

Veda, the little daughter of Arthur and Clara Ball, whose death occurred last Saturday, was buried at the Pike cemetery.

Dr. Calbreath was called to Lafayette yesterday to attend Almond Fletcher, who met with a painful wound from the accidental discharge of a gun while out hunting.

Mr. Laughlin yesterday offered a memorial in the house praying for payment by the general government of the Cayuse war claims and the pensioning of troops engaged in that war.

The firemen's fair committee will have a meeting at the firemen's hall this, Friday, evening February 4th, at which important business is to be transacted. Be prompt at 6:30; not 7, nor half past. By order of the Chief.

A very serious accident occurred a few days since near north Yamhill. It seems that as L. L. Stillwell was driving home with Uncle Andy Wright, Ira and Utah Orton, in the hack with him, his team became frightened and run and making a sharp turn upset the hack. Stillwell was buried in a mud hole about three feet. Uncle Andy had his knee joint dislocated; Ira Orton some of his ribs hurt, and Utah Orton falling on his head was rendered senseless for some time. Uncle Andy was carried to the house of J. L. Castle, close by, and his knee put in place by Stillwell. All parties are improving but have not fully recovered.

Zephyrs at Mrs. Stuarts, five ounces for 25 cents. Opposite the Grange store.

Ten feet of snow is reported on the mountains, by the mail carrier to Tillamook.

Valentines in great variety, and some of the handsomest designs, at Rogers & Todds.

Tax-payers have responded very liberally to the visits of Sheriff Harris on his collecting tour.

G. L. Blackman of East Bloomfield, New York, and W. L. Carter of Albany, Oregon, were the guests of Geo. W. Burt, yesterday.

C. Symons has disposed of his city property to G. E. Detmering, and has retired from business in McMinnville. He leaves for Vancouver, B. C., as soon as he can dispose of his furniture.

C. C. Tallman recently had an experience traveling to a funeral in this county where streams were swollen badly and bridges damaged, which was thrilling in itself. We often wondered how the pioneers of this valley managed to get from place to place in such times as the past month, for instance.

R. B. Hibbs, one of our best young men, has purchased the tailoring business of C. Symons, and will open out soon with as fine a stock of samples as has ever been shown in McMinnville. A. M. Taggart has been engaged to take charge of the manufacturing department; he needs no recommendations from us. His skill as a workman is well established in Yamhill county. Baz is full of vim and energy, and we bespeak for him a successful business career.

The retiring chief engineer of the McMinnville fire department recommends the department be supplied with 300 feet of good hose, making with what we have at present, 600 feet, which would be very necessary in case of a fire occurring out of range of any of the present cisterns. Further that there be a couple of cisterns put in, one at the intersection of Third and F streets and one at the intersection of First and H streets. Our apparatus at present consists of one hand engine complete, one hose cart, one hook and ladder truck, 300 feet of hose in good condition, five ladders, thirty-six iron buckets, two axes, one hook and rope, all in good working order.
