CITY.

The term dude is played out. The proper title now is young society darwins.

Wm. Savage, of Sheridan, passed up to-day from a business trip to Portland.

Twenty-four * Jubilee Singers will appear at the firemens fair.

The finest lot of cards, card board, papers, envelopes, etc., just from Chicago and the east, at this office. Will sell to the trade.

Mrs. F. O. Adams, of Dayton, who met with a most painful fracture of the ankle, by a recent fall, is doing nicely under treatment of Dr. McDaniel.

Last night residents of this city who retired early, did so in the blissful expectation of "listening to the patter of the rain upon the roof;" but they were doomed to bitter disappointment. This morning the walks and pools were again frozen solid.

Frank Allenbaugh, the celebrated temperance lecturer, died at San Jose on the 22d ult, so we are informed by his old time friend, Jno. Farrer of this city. He leaves a family in Oskaloosa, Iowa. Mr. Farrer could give us no particulars of the death.

Some of our dealers were surprised yesterday at receiving a consignment of goods from Lafayette, which were part of the same furnished to a man of business there, whom the supposition is has failed. They take the goods as part payment on account, and paid the bills for transportation out of profit and loss account possibly.

There was something in the report of a murderous assault at Willamina. The person assaulted was a stock man named Sanderson, the individual making the assault was Logan Beltz, formerly of this city. He was arrested in Polk county. It is said that the affray was occasioned by an over stock of frozen beer. It seems that Sanderson, when he was getting ready to go home, missed his buggy single-tree, and the joke was carried to such an extreme that cross words followed, when Beltz produced the article and gave it to the owner over his head, instead of upon his buggy.

D. C. Narver has located at Albany, and goes into the store of Mr. McIlwain as clerk.

Reports from Sheridan say young Preble, the victim of the coasting accident, cannot live.

An old observer remarks that clergymen who fall from grace very rarely surprise or astonish those who knew them.

At a regular meeting of good templar lodge Friday evening last, the following were elected members: W. P. Holman, Frank Holman, Wm. Henderson, Fred Nelson, Geo. Clark, S. Gant, H. Beeby, C. Apperson, T. J. Force, S. P. M. Briggs, B. Apperson and Quinn Burnett. The shingle supper was a success. Owing to the absence of the WCT, installation of officers was postponed until to-morrow evening, when the first issue of the Huckleberry, edited by J. L. Knight, will be read, and the following night the "Opposition paper" by S. P. M. Briggs, will be read.

Senator Hare, of Washington county, is championing a very sensible bill and one that ought to pass. In brief, the object of the bill is to have the governor appoint an insurance commissioner to whom all insurance companies doing business in the state would have to report. The commissioner would have supervision over the insurance companies, and, rightly conducted, the position would be one in which a competent man would be of great service to the state. The bill is a worthy one and should pass.

To-Night.

We were under the impression that the only person accompanying Miss Biggars to-night was the distinguished reader, but feel gratified to learn that she is accompanied by Prof. Nunvars, Prof. J. W. McConnell, Miss Louisa Barren and Miss Clara Siebold. The program is one of the choicest selection, both vocal and instrumental. By all means go. The Opera house will be comfortably warm.

Miss Belle Johnson, teacher of music in McMinnville and at McMinnville college. Residence corner of Second and C Streets.

Now is the time to subscribe.

Legislative Assembly Notes.

Dr. Watts' resolution on the prohibitory amendment special election passed both the senate and house, almost unanimously.

Gov. Pennoyer vetoed both the Portland bridge and water bills. The first will be considered to-morrow, the latter was considered to-day, but with what result we are unable to say.

A special meeting of the board of trade was held last evening, at which time dispatches from Salem were answered not to sanction any amendments of house bill 18 in the senate that would jeopardise the passage of the bill by failure of the house to concur.

The legality of the bill to raise the salaries of the supreme judges has become a serious question. It is not that objectors to the bill consider that the bill is not right, but it is declared by them to be unconstitutional. Senator Watts suggests that an amendment to the constitution be submitted on the subject, thus obviating all difficulty in the way of illegality.

We venture again to call attention to the fact that the people want to know what are and what are not laws, after the assembly adjourns. Will not members provide for publication of such in at least two papers in each county? We concur in the suggestion that whenever a newspaper is to be accommodated for simple justice the act fails to pass; but there is not a man in the assembly who is not indebted to the press for his ability to legislate for the people. Senators Siglin and Wager, both journalists, realize this truth, but modesty perhaps, forbids them offering an act to compel county courts and other branches of the government to quit sponging from the journalists of the state work that should be paid for at decent rates. They ought to introduce bills to compel the advertising, at regular rates, of the new laws passed by each assembly for four weeks; also, the advertising of full proceeding in the county court to be printed in a democratic and republican paper in each county.
