Al. Southmayd is over in the coast range looking for fur and will buy anything in that line offered him.

The finest turn out on the road to-day was driven by Dr. Tucker, a pair of spanking bays and iron bobs, mounted in style for the season.

All who expect to sing in the Choral Union at the firemen's fair, are requested to meet at Mrs. Wm. Campbell's to-morrow (Tuesday) evening, at 8 o'clock.

Dick Longacre came in with a sled yesterday and hauled his shingles home. He says the politicians can't work upon his stock for whittling capital.

St. Valentines Day was never more extensively observed in the United States than it has been to-day. Some of the Valentines were gorgeous, even here in little McMinnville.

Portland will have its railroad bridge, and Mr. Little of this county, claims the honor of naming it "The Veto bridge," because it is provided for by a bill which passed over the veto of Gov. Pennoyer. Peg one for Yamhill.

Our footpads are growing altogether too exacting. If a man gives them his coat they want his vest also.

Sleighting has been fine to-day. We acknowledge a treat from Am. Shadden this forenoon, who convinced us that it pays to keep a team and cutter, even for a few days recreation once in a year or two.

The way the democratic lash has been snapped and whirled in Salem during the past few days must have been a delightful reminder of Joe Lane, Delazon Smith and Asahel Bush in the palmy days of the Oregon democracy.

Our coast is to be defended. The United States senate passed two bills without debate on the 7th inst. appropriating $22,000,000 for that purpose. While this may not mean war, it means a preparation in case it should occur.

E. W. James is the name of the deadly fool who deliberately killed a Mrs. Newton at Albina, with his own gun, which he didn't know was loaded. Hanging is good enough for such fools who pull a trigger in a playful mood "just to frighten" someone.

Patti, by the aid of a dynamiter, came very near giving a farewell concert with a corpse at the finish, in San Francisco Monday evening. Should the author of the outrage recover from his wounds, he will be the pet of criminal lawyers for a while, and then turned loose as insane.

Senator Mitchell's bill for a light house at Cape Meares, which has been favorably acted upon by the house committee on appropriations, will cause to be erected a stone light house, provided with a first class revolving light, 26 miles south of Tillamook rock and 46 miles north of Yaquina bay. The appropriation is $60,000.

It is rather late in the day for this to "come out" in the Oregonian, but "it is good, all the same," as the saying goes: "Portland's unbounded indignation at the failure of the governor to sign the bridge bill seems to be about as extensive as the indignation in Portland last June over the failure of T. R. Cornelius to have his 'shirt washed.'"

We agree with the Telegram, that the present assembly, before it adjourns should pass a law making death by the discharge of a gun, pointed "playfully" at a person, and with the supposition that it was not loaded, murder in the first degree. It should go farther than this, and make the deliberate pointing of a gun or pistol at a person, whether it was loaded or not, a crime calling for grave penalty.
