McMinnville College Notes.

You have kindly opened the columns of your valuable paper to correspondents from various sections of the county, and I think it important that McMinnville College should be represented. Should it be agreeable, I shall endeavor to furnish a few notes; permit me, however, in doing so, to ask the indulgence of your readers.

The attendance at the college is very good, it is probable that the students will soon begin to drop out in order to prepare for spring work. We hope, however, to see them back next year bringing others with them.

The snow afforded a splendid opportunity for snowballing. Many of the students made good use of the opportunity.

President-elect Brownson, on his recent visit, to this city, was "sized up" by the boys.

The board of trustees wish to have the catalogues, for this year, ready for distribution by the middle of the last term.

B. F. Rhodes, who has been teaching in district 25, was at home last week on a visit.

J. H. Smith, class '84, is a law student at Washington Lee university in Virginia.

Rev. W. H. Black, who attended the college last winter, paid the school a visit last week.

The Philergian society, at its last election chose the following officers: President, L. Maddock; vice-president, J. R. Sanders; secretary, W. P. Holman; assist. secretary, Miss Hallie Reid; treasurer, Miss Birdie Maddock; sergeant at arms, C. B. Palmer; assist. sergeant at arms, R. O. Jones. TOM BERIGHT.

Writing from Newark, Ohio, D. C. Stewart says: Often seeding to clover with other grasses and the keeping of live stock I am invariably told is what keeps up and even improves the quality of the soil here, and I must not forget to include also, thorough under drainage, for nothing can benefit land more than this. Tiling is plentiful here at reasonable prices, about one-half Oregon prices; and great quantities are being used with most satisfactory results.

Bother the snow! Mud?

Star Jubilee singer's rehearsal Thursday evening.

Dr. Taylor goes to Corvallis on Wednesday and Thursday of each week to attend cases he is treating there.

Keep your "piles" and keep your money, if you wish; that is one of the blessings we enjoy under the government in which we live.

All who expect to sing in the Choral Union at the firemen's fair, are requested to meet at Mrs. Wm. Campbell's this evening, at 8 o'clock.

The new Reporter building will not be heated by steam, Bro. Bannister, but our news and jobbing presses will therein be run by steam.

The state board of immigration will not be abolished by the assembly. But a more obliging secretary will perhaps be employed. For a position like that a man is wanted who can realize the truth that "civility costs nothing, and buys everything."

Referring to Frank Alumbaugh, whose death was noted last week, the San Jose Herald says: "When Alumbaugh was at his prime metally, no man in the country could equal him in quoting that which he had read; sacred or profane. Cantos by the dozen from Byron, page after page of Homer's Illiad, whole books from Dante's matchless work, and the same from Milton, nearly all the Gospels, all the gems from Burns, all the pertinent dialogues in the leading Shakesperian plays; he had by memory so correct that it was needless to refer to a book when he was about. A noted lecturer, (Saxe) spoke here, and was lost on one of his own poems, the deceased being in the audience, quickly prompted the author. Having run the gauntlet of intemperance, he turned around and became a very forcible lecturer on its evils and he did much good. His life and career has its fruitful lesson, which the young men of to-day can easily discover.

Miss Belle Johnson, teacher of music in McMinnville and at McMinnville college. Residence corner of Second and C Streets.

No spectators will be admitted at broom drill rehearsals.

The postmistress of Bandon, Coos county, refuses to deliver up the keys to her successor until notified by the proper authorities that she has been superseded. The would-be Nasby thus locked out, though in possession of a commission duly signed by William F. Vilas, postmaster-general, appeals to the postal agent to install him in office. Such are the trials of freeman in pursuit of employment.

We complain at an occasional cold snap and a few inches of snow in Oregon, because many of us came out here to get rid of these things. As a matter of fact, though, the experience is not a bad one, nor is the effect bad. It is a purifier. The wheat is protected, and the "spell" lasts such a comparatively small period that our joints do not get frost bitten. Withal it has its good sides. All the same there is a pervading feeling of relief when the snow dissolves and the chinook is upon us.

Mission Services at St. James church were well attended last evening, and the Rector, Rev. J. C. Fair, feels encouraged in the good work. He was ably assisted by Rev. J. W. Sellwood of St. Davids church, east Portland, and Rev. A. L. Parker of St. Marys, Eugene. Services this evening at 7 o'clock. The public are most cordially invited to attend. A short service will be held after the regular service at which all who feel an interest in church work are invited to remain.
