CORRESPONDENCE.

Bellevue Chips.

The cattle here are looking very bad, and there will be a great many die if the storm continues a week longer.

We have had several horses die lately of blind staggers.

Mrs. Lemon had a horse crip pled last week by jumping a picket fence-running a picket into his breast. The horse will will probably recover. It is to be hoped that he will as Mrs. Lemon is a widow woman and would feel the loss greatly.

We would like to see some good honest blacksmith come here to work. Why not? The country is filled up with good, honest farmers, and we have a good shop here, and now all we need is some black, dirty looking fellow to come here, roll up his sleeves and go to work.

There has been a great many jolly hunters from McMinnville visiting this place with guns and boats, looking for ducks. Boys, I would advise you to stay at home until the ducks begin to fly, and then if the Reporter will publish a few items which I may send, I will let you know when there are plenty of ducks.

Mrs. James Arthur of this place, has a very sick baby.

Wm. Lindsey Delashmett made $60 by killing a wolf on Guld's ranch.

Tillamook.

I dare say you have not heard from Tillamook since it was snowed in and if you suffer any anxiety in consequence will relieve it by informing you that we are trying to make the best of the situation.

One good cause for growling is the non-arrival of newspapers. Have received two Reporters in five weeks. They were well read and much appreciated I assure you. Have had an unusually long and severe spell of cold weather for Tillamook, and if it continues much longer stock will be an interested party in the suffer for want of food, as many farmers were wholly unprepared for such a storm.

The steamer A. B. Field arrived from Astoria last week. The first trip since October. While having so little communication with the outside world during the past three months, and it being somewhat vexatious to receive our Christmas goods and winter clothing the middle of February, we can still feel thankful, for through all our tribulations clams have been fat and plentiful.

Washington's birthday was celebrated here by a masquerade ball given by D. Bowers at Olsen's hall, which was well attended. Among those present most noticeable were Mrs. J. L. Embum, who wore the garb of a nun, Misses Anna Holden, queen of hearts, Rosie Olsen, peanut girl, Emily Smith, goddess of liberty, Mrs. Mary Mckinley bloomer costume, Mrs. Wm. Olsen and Miss Briady, twin sisters, Mrs. Miron Perkins, newspaper costume, Misses Hannah Bunn, Chloe Darling, Lou Bunn, Mother goose, Ida Vaughn, was a fine old monk, Miss Fearnside wore a circus costume and was by many considered the best sustained character of the evening. Dan Bowers as a Spanish cavalier took the cake, while Master Clark Hadley carried the Stars and Stripes right royally.

Monte Goodspeed might not like to have his many friends know that he played the devil in Hillicoats, so forbear mentioning his costume. The costumes of the gentleman were many and various.

Our enterprising friend Eugene M. Keyeo has quite an addition to his family, a bran new son and daughter arrived Sunday the 13th.

Miss Ida Vaughn is spending the winter with Miss Maggie Fearnside, our efficient postmistress.

Mrs. James Quick, has been an almost helpless invalid all winter.

H. H. Downing, county clerk, has been quite unwell.

Joe Whiting has a bad cold, but thinks he will be all right when spring opens.

The Rosie Olsen sailed for Portland on the 21st.

"the Judge Cooper says Dougherty road must go." And still it snows.
