

John T. Jolly returned from a visit to Hillsboro last evening, and made a flying trip to Dr. Tuckers office early this morning, for the benefit of his daughter who will suffer no more for some time to come with tooth ache pains.

The Odd Fellows of this city will build a two story brick this summer. We say they will because we know what Odd Fellows are made of; having "been there" to aid in building two of the finest halls in Oregon, ourself; and when they start in to do a work of this kind, they do it.

As to the course of prices of wheat in the near future, or the probabilities in that direction, we have said and continue to say nothing, believing that speculation rules the ring. The country, unless all signs are deceptive, is to be cursed with another one of those gigantic wheat corners which have in the past done so much to injure its export trade in that cereal. The present is a most inopportune time in which to engineer a corner in any description of exportables. We are experiencing a stringent money market, which free exchanges of property; especially with foreign countries; would do so much to relieve, and up to the present time have been relieving; at the same time the visible grain supply is larger than ever before. So that if there was a period in which such a course as this would be criminal, it is the present.

OWED TO

THE ROOSTER.

How dear to my heart is the elegant rooster, Old Public Opinion we all know so well. Who lifts up his voice when people are tickled, And crows when his tidings are joyful to tell. The dooster the booster The bouncing old rooster The jolly old rooster with tidings to tell. Now lately this rooster has taken to crowing In favor of us and the goods that we sell. Our trade is increasing and daily increasing Due to the public opinion I know very well. Then hurrah for the rooster The bouncing old rooster The jolly old rooster with tidings to tell.

That people are please with the prices and goods sold by BISHOP & KAY The past year, is an established fact, as they all CROW OVER THEIR SUCCESS Of the past year, and now flock in to inspect the new spring styles.
