Value of Cranberries
Cranberries are firmly lodged in American tradition as a "health" food. Before the white man's arrival they were valued by Indian medicine men. Later, New England sailors standing watch used to munch handfuls of raw cranberries which they grabbed from the barrel kept in the cook's galley. The tart red berries probably ward off scurvy, which is caused by lack of vitamin C. In addition to vitamin C, cranberries also supply some minerals, including iodine and iron, to the diet.

Farm Dollar
In mid-July, 1948, farmers were receiving 53 cents out of the consumer's dollar spent for food products. The other 47 cents went to wholesalers, retailers, transportation companies and others taking part in the marketing process.

Housewife's Preference
An extensive poll in which housewives were asked, "If you had more food money, what would you spend it on?" disclosed that about one-third would buy more vegetables, fruits, and dairy products.

Speed Is King
Man-made missiles capable of circling the globe in two hours, and space ships that would make the moon a next-door neighbor of the earth, are possibilities of the future.

Wrong Customer
An old waiter at the club was giving the new hand a few hints. "See that fellow who's just come in?" he whispered. "He's got a twin brother and they're as alike as two peas, only this one's a clerk of hearing. Watch the fun!"

Going to the member's side, he smiled politely and said, in an ordinary voice: "Well, pifance, and what do you want in the nose-bag today?"

"I'd have a chop," was the reply. "And, by the way, it's my brother who doesn't hear so well."

Change Tractor Oil
Failure to observe the recommended oil drain practice and oil filter service will result in a clogged oil filter and lead to coated oil screens, plugged oil lines, scarred pistons, and burned bearings on your tractor.

Planting Sweet Potatoes
The fungi which cause "black rot" and "soil rot" in sweet potatoes live in the soil from one season to another, so it is not advisable to plant successive crops of potatoes on the same soil.

Rainwater on Farm
Terracing, contour farming, and close growing vegetation such as small grain, legumes, and grass sod will help slow up the runoff water so that it can soak into the soil.

Fido Rationalizes
When his friend, the dachshund, appeared with a knot tied in his tail, the little fox terrier was naturally curious.

"What's the big idea?" he inquired.

"That," the dachshund explained, "was tied by my mistress to remind me not to cross any busy streets."

The fox terrier turned and sulkily regarded his own skippy stump of a tail.

"By golly!" he observed. "No wonder I'm so forgetful."

HIGH COST OF WRITING

No matter how high the costs of living were there was a time when you felt you could afford to mail a couple of letters. But now that ancient satisfaction is gone with the wind.

The Forgotten Man's last firm friend, the U. S. postoffice department, has walked out on him. New postage rates which went into effect the first of this year make a luxury out of correspondence. The stamp window threatens to get into the same class with the night club, the musical comedy and the new model auto.

Rates on almost all types of mail are upped, with the special delivery stamp, which for generations sold for a dime, going to 15 cents.

Parcel post rates, money order fees and almost everything except run-of-the-mill letters and postal cards have been jumped. We heard a fellow at a stamp window ask, "What's the down payment and how much per week?" as he got the bill when depositing quite a load of mail yesterday.

We went into the postoffice with a bunch of special delivery letters and found ourself asking, "Will you take a check?" Getting a negative answer, we inquired: "How's the chances of opening a charge account?" That got us nowhere, either.

It's all very depressing. The postoffice department has for generations been one place which it was a comfort to visit when things were high everywhere else. It never made you feel like taking your trade some other place.

To raise the mail rates was always accepted as bad politics sure to cost votes. But the politicians today know that the public has lost its capacity for indignation and that anything goes. Certainly the postoffice department lost money, but that was always "in the lease." The very idea of the mail service breaking even would have been out of the question any time in the past.

But for the past few years the postoffice department has been spending so much money paying for new designs and issuing new stamps in new sizes, shapes and color schemes, that it really had to dig up some fresh dough. It is tickled silly with the new rates, as they will give it a lot of fun designing more new stamps.

The three-cent stamp on light mail still stands and postal cards and souvenir post cards will still be handled at a penny each. Why? They must be more trouble than any other mail. And a letter carrier has to take as many steps delivering a picture of a bathing beauty and a message as he does in delivering a parcel post package.

But it is that 15 cents for a special delivery stamp that gets us. You can send the message by wire for a few cents more. And the telegram is never left hanging around the postoffice two or three days.

Think we're gonna have inflation in this country, bub?

SOUTH PAWS

There's the story of the old Southern Senator who, asked why he was slow in taking his seat for the state-of-the-union message, replied: "I'm waiting for Lefty."

Whittaker Chambers has been photographed on his farm milking a cow. It is good to see that he no longer works from the left side.

That grounding of the Queen Mary is easily explained. All the cables and minks shifted to one side and caused a list which prevented accurate steering.

Belmont gets an extra seven days of racing this season. It is felt that the fans need an extra week in order to locate the horses on the straightaway there and determine when they are within the jurisdiction of this country.

VANISHING AMERICANISMS—
"We've saved up $500 and are going to send Junior through college."
"Let's give a banquet for the boss!"
"I get 30 cents a dozen for eggs so it pays me to keep hens."
"All that worries me is the real estate tax."

Fancy Pipe Rack is Simple to Build

IT LOOKS like a wood carving yet it takes not a bit of skill to make. To make this handsome pipe rack merely trace the pattern offered below on some scraps of wood. Then cut out three pieces and glue them together. After assembling, sandpaper, paint or stain. The head is then ready for two ears and a nose band cut from scraps of leather. You will amaze yourself and practically mystify your friends when they see what you've accomplished without help from a skilled wood carver. A 25c coping saw is all you need to cut the parts for the head and base.

For a gift every pipe smoker will enjoy, send 25c for Pipe Rack Pattern No. 49 to East-Bild Pattern Company, Dept. W, Pleasantville, N. Y.

Ignitable Liquids Are Dangerous Fire Hazards

Ignitable liquids are fire hazards when stored in the home. Large amounts of such liquids should be stored in underground tanks away from buildings. Small amounts may be stored safely in steel gas or oil cans.

War Devises to Aid Polio Victims

A simple valve developed during World War II to give oxygen to wounded flyers at high altitudes is now being used to treat polio patients.

The Mine Safety Appliance Company, which originated the mask-like device, said research and experimentation has been underway since the war's end to adapt the valve to respiratory ailments.

The Council on Physical Medicine of the American Medical Association has accepted the device—which is called a pneophore—as an adjunct to the "iron lung" and for use in breathing in drugs.
