

DETROIT

By MRS. J. A. WRIGHT

Bruce Houck and Stela Davis were business callers in Portland last week. Charles E. Wilson of Detroit spent the week end in Ranier, Wash. The shuffle board tournament at Detroit Tavern for last week showed the following results: Monday night, 32 players, winner Bobbie Renner and Charles Bergman; Friday night, 28 players, winners Jack Bennett and Valdoer Heath.

It's rumored that the Gates shuffle board team would like to challenge the Detroit Tavern team. The team here calls the challenge. So come on up. But we're warning you, you are up against some stiff competition. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Parker visited at the Fitz Goodman home in Estacada last week end.

Mrs. Ward Stahlman and baby daughter, of Salem, were callers in Detroit last week.

Wallace Chamberlain of the PRA who has made his home in Detroit for several months was transferred to Warrendale, Ore., last week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Rynearson and daughter Susie spent Sunday in Redmond visiting with friends.

Mrs. L. L. Rynearson an daughter Suzie entertained with a surprise birthday party Wednesday evening honoring her husband (Red).

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Len Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Ruskin Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Gesher, Otto Russell, Art Hansen, Gates Cochran, Glen Dryden and Val Maliszewski.

After an evening of cards, a buffet luncheon was served. A beautiful three tiered birthday cake was presented to the honored guest by his friends and business associates.

Mrs. G. R. Dickie, accompanied by Mrs. William Piercy of Vancouver, Wash., left for Los Angeles last week to visit friends and relatives.

Otto Russell is attending an insurance underwriters convention in Portland this week end.

Business callers in Salem last week were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Holbert and Mrs. Jewel Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Gesher and Mrs. John Dellaire of Idanha.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Jones of Salem visited with the Jewel Myers Sunday. Visitors from Mill City Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Dickie and Mr. and Mrs. Burdette Cole.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kenny entertained Mr. and Mrs. Len Davis and son John at a dinner Tuesday night. While the Kennys were taking the Davis' home late in the evening they found a last year's fawn laying in the road. It was cold and hungry so the Kennys placed it in their basement for the evening. Sometime during the night it jumped through the window and disappeared without even a thank you.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Mattoon spent Sunday visiting with relatives in Redmond.

Visiting with relatives here for a few days last week was Mrs. C. R. Baldwin of Stayton.

A PTA meeting was held Monday evening at the old school building. A special feature was the showing of a TB film on general health, etc. Watch your paper for dates when the X-ray mobile will be available.

It has been learned here that Roy Newport, a merchant for many years in Detroit, is in a Portland hospital.

Visiting at the Claude Holbert residence is Mr. Holbert's cousin and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Holbert of Gaston, Ore.

Another feeding of hay for the elk and deer was distributed up an down the Canyon Monday.

Folks in this part of the Canyon are enjoying the springlike weather the past week. Detroit proper still has about two feet of snow on the level. From down in the valley comes a report that daffodils are blooming. Who wants to pick daffodils, anyway? Cheer up, daffodils will be in bloom here when theirs are all gone.

weather, a great feeling of optimism prevails for the future.

Quincy Smith reports the March of Dimes proceeds amounted to over $50. Building what we are to be used for money raising programs were demolished by the snow. That and the unusual winter were the reasons for such small returns.

(Idanha was the first community in the state last year to fill its Community Chest quota.

Owing to the lack of parking area (snow banks had taken up the space) the Idanha Theater was closed for a short time. It is again open and the usual good type of entertainment is again here.

Last week the highway to Sisters and Bend was again opened to traffic.

To Mr. and Mrs. Pat O'Brien was born a daughter. Both mother and child are doing well. Mrs. O'Brien's return from Bend had been delayed by ice conditions.

Idanha

By CHARLES DE SULLY

Lloyd Girod and family returned to Idanha and claim they brought this spring weather we are all enjoying.

The Idanha Veneer Co. started operations on the 24th and are really getting into the stride of production.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hansen are spending the week end in Lebanon.

The warm sunshine here is cutting down the snow piles and the frost at night holds in check any serious danger of floods. With the good news of the Da and the break in the

FOOTPRINTS IN THE SANDS OF TIME by JIM

SHOEING A HORSE is undoubtedly a harder job than shoeing a man (possibly because there are twice as many feet) but comfort and durability are a prime factor in either. The tools, shown in this rare old steel engraving, are not anything like the expert machines down at our place, but they represent the thing we like to represent...old-fashioned personal attention methods. When we sell shoes, repair shoes or make shoes we deal with YOU. Our place is not for mass consumption. Each customer has his own special problem. We like to think we can solve that problem.
