Jack Sellers Dies

Jack Sellers, 80, for many years a railroad conductor on the Canyon run, died Friday evening in the Southern Pacific Hospital in San Francisco.

Mr. Sellers was in retirement. Recently he had entered the hospital for treatment of a gangrenous foot. Funeral services were held Tuesday in Elks Temple, Albany at 2:30 p. m.

CARD OF THANKS

To our friends, your kind expressions of sympathy are deeply appreciated and gratefully acknowledged.

Mrs. Julia and Alva Carter.

GHOSTS RETURN

Fisher's Original Negro Ghosts basketball team will play the Mill City Rockets here Monday night.

The colored team puts on a clowning show along with first rate basketball. Last year, however, the local boys pushed them so hard they had to stop fooling and get down to business in the latter part of the game. The Rockets, stronger than ever this year and with the league trophy in their possession, are likely to be a bit tougher.

Ken Chance, local manager, said fine basketball.

it would be a lot of fun, along with
