

Elkhorn

By JEAN ROBERTS

Last week Ike Myers touched a match to an old log building that has stood on his property for nearly 50 years. The log house was the original building erected on the Chamberlain place back in 1903. Since another house had been built close beside the log structure, it was necessary to pull a wall at a time away by means of a "cat" and then burn it.

Blackberries are beginning to ripen and most everyone in this area is out diligently picking, canning and preserving the berries for next winter's use. Berries seem to be plentiful this year but are still green in the higher places.

During the past week of hot weather the Little North Fork has seen a good deal of swimming and picnicking, with outsiders as well as residents enjoying this beautiful recreation area. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bickett and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Roberts and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Longnecker and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ike Myers and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bain all met at the river Saturday evening for a swim and wiener roast, followed later by an impromptu card party at the Ray Roberts home. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ewalt, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Miller and Miss Virginia Snell, all of Gresham, were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Myers.

Last week while Bill Bickett was working on his truck the gas line loosened and spouted gasoline in his ear, causing him considerable pain and discomfort.

More petitions are being circulated urging rerouting of the Elkhorn-Mehama road across the river from the Lumpker bridge and thus eliminating the Freres hill. A similar petition submitted to the county court recently was rejected.

Vacation.

The Fourth of July, and a week's vacation comes but once a year, but offers opportunity for each in our family to enjoy a favorite diversion.

Of course a carnival is the first pick of the youngsters—so we're off to Hillsboro to attend their July 4 Happy Days celebration. Uncle Joe Frydendall left early in the morning with a small bottle of olives to stake a claim on a table in the picnic grounds. Housewives with baskets scowled at the solitary figure of Uncle Joe and his little bottle of olives occupying the largest table in the park.

At the end of the day, laden with trinkets but very little money, we returned to the picnic table for a last morsel.

Next was the rodeo at St. Paul, where topnotch cowboys bull dog, calf rope, ride wild horses and bulls, and always there's a clown for laughs. Said a fellow who was chased by a huge Brahma to the fence: "Dented my trailer hitch."

Tuesday we saw wrestling matches which ended with one brawler chasing the other out of the ring.

My husband likes to ride a bike. "I used to be good on one of these things," he boasted as he wobbled toward the beach, down at the coast. In his way, on a narrow road, was parked a new and shiny Cadillac occupied by a haughty dowager whose expression turned to one of horror as Ray crashed into the side of her glistening vehicle.

For a better ride we rented some saddle horses. Daughter Gerry, aged six, was in ecstasy on a ewe-necked strawberry roan with a backbone like a razor, but to her as thrilling as Trigger.

And so home again, with enough vim to last through another year.

1000 ATTEND PREVUE DANCE AT HILLTOP STORE

More than 1000 people attended a prevue dance July 9 in the new building now completed for the Hilltop store.

Albert and Mary Toman invited the Canyon communities to see their new building before the fixtures were moved in. The interior was brilliantly lighted with rows of cold fluorescent lamps, and provides a floor-space of 80 foot frontage, 60 feet deep, the biggest yet for Mill City.

Music for the dance was provided by Arey Podrabsky's orchestra. The Volunteer Firemen put on a demonstration on a nearby lot before the dance began.

The new building is the latest in store design. The complete frontage has large plate glass panes, a modern heating plant has been installed, and a parking lot capable of taking care of 100 cars is provided alongside.

Harold Kliever's wholesale meat plant has been furnished quarters in the rear part of the building.

Mrs. N. E. Davis of Lafayette, mother of Mrs. C. E. Coville, has been visiting the past week. Also visiting for a couple of days were John Davis, a brother, and a nephew, John of Lafayette.

Patricia Cree went by plane to Salem with her uncle, Wade Dickinson, who is commanding officer of the civil air patrol, Salem unit.
