The Third Rail by Leo C. Dean

Maybe some of the Oregon pioneers were a mite ecstatic upon arriving in these lush valleys after the travail of trudging across the plains and deserts. Consider the names of these towns—Sweet Home, Sublimity, Amity, Aurora, Rose Lodge, Unity, Mount Angel—even Paradise yet!

That some of them were not thus overcome may be gleaned by names of a grimmer import, such as Remote and Skull Springs. And we never will recover from "Tillamook," although it ill becomes a guy from a state which harbors a Keokuk to be so astonished.

"And We Quote..."

"All nobility at its beginning was somebody's natural superiority." — Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Natural History Notes.

The tomcat is by nature inclined to peace, and will flee from the pugnacious dog in high gear. After the dog catches him it is discovered that the tomcat is a mercurial temperament and can defend himself tight pert. He explodes in the dog's face and claws hunk from the dog's anatomy in a frenzied manner, and the dog hastens away from there shouting fire! a police! at every jump. It is believed that many dogs have decided to join Alcoholics Anonymous after a few women's earnest discussion with adult tomcats, who put the zeal of a true reformer into these seances. When in love the tomcat has a voice that will raise the hair on a muff and cause goose pimples to appear on a policeman's neck. Nobody has ever been able to teach anything to a tomcat, which is a good thing as he knows enough as it is.

The Branding Chute

"When the cash customer wasn't considered to be vermicular."—Editorial in the Portland Oregonian.

VERMICULAR — Crawling or creeping like a worm.

Side Roads and Short Cuts—Whatever became of the side-saddle? And the ukelele? And Alf Landon? ... That—er—highway from Salem to Mill City is so tortured by sharp curves it has this scribbler pulling leather on every trip—twice a day. We've seen many of the western rivers—the Red Cedar in Iowa, the Niobrara in Nebraska, the Colorado in Arizona, the Sacramento, in California, to name a few. Prettier than any is the North Santiam. Things we can do without—any more write-ups about Rita Hayworth and her new red cap, Aly... Things we appreciate—Sunday morning, a merschaum pipe.

How doth the busy little bee
Improve each shining minute;
He picks a likely spot on thee
And jabs his stinger in it!

DELEGATES PICKED DETROIT LEGION

Legionnaires who will attend the American Legion Convention in Salem are Commander Quincy Smith, Edison Vickers, and Holland Storey. Delegates from the Auxilliary are Mrs. Warren Stoll, president, and Mrs. Holland Storey. Mrs. Lloyd Girod and Mrs. Edison Vickers have been named as alternates.

The American Legion here has been building a park. It will cover about an acre of ground. A number of tables have been built and clearing done.

The Legion Auxilliary sent Nancy Haseman as delegate to Girls State. Members have been making pillow tops to send to Veterans hospital in Portland.
