

Logging Injuries Fatal to Youth

Eugene Nelson, aged 20, of Portland, who was injured while setting chokers on a clearing project in connection with the Detroit Dam project died in Salem Memorial Hospital on Saturday.

Mr. Nelson was a junior in Stanford University and had planned to return to work this fall.

While working here he stayed at Mrs. Alice Thacker.

WORKER CLUBBED WITH 2x4 IN UNEXPLAINED ATTACK

R. G. Mitchell, Mountain States Power Co. worker, was roughly clubbed with a two by four Monday, but neither he nor the man, a fellow employee, who struck him can explain why. No charges have been filed.

Mr. Mitchell said that he was in the vicinity of the theater at the noon hour when he approached the other man who was working on his car. Mr. Mitchell was smoking a cigarette, and the other worker told him to throw it away because of danger of igniting gasoline fumes. Mr. Mitchell complied.

Then, he related, the other worker kept pushing him away. "Mr. Mitchell thinking all the time he was "funning." Suddenly, the worker reached to the ground and picked up a board with which Mitchell was struck. The force of the blow knocked him cold.

Afterwards Mr. Mitchell talked to the man, trying to find out why the incident had occurred, inasmuch as no previous antagonism had existed between them during three months they had worked together. The man told Mr. Mitchell he didn't know why he struck him.

Mr. Mitchell was treated by Dr. Jack Reid.

The Lowell Stiffers were in Salem Sunday, visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. George Steffy moved into their new home in the Thomas addition this week.

HIS FUTURE IS IN YOUR HANDS!

Today, Independence and Freedom are the keys to the doors of success for every youngster in America. Through the system of individual liberty and private enterprise this child looks forward to his place in the social and business activities of our country. To be suppressed by government control or government ownership would mean the end of every youth's opportunities.
