

Thousands See Highway Dedicated

AT LEAST three thousand cars and over 10,000 people crossed Breitenbush bridge Sunday when the North Santiam Highway was opened for traffic. Above is but a part of the caravans that met at the bridge, a 440-foot long, 200 foot high structure just north of Detroit. The bridge and the new route are all above the water line which will form when the Detroit Dam five miles below starts filling up. The day was clear, and people came from all over the state to witness the opening of the road, that links the eastern and western regions with a modern road.

In order to accommodate those working on the swing shift a matinee will be held Wednesday morning at 10:30 A. M. The picture will be 'The Snake Pit.'

The show is open for the general public.
