

New Tavern Opens on Highway

Sparky Ditter and Tony Ziebert nudged open the doors of their new Meander Inn last Friday, not expecting really to begin in business. But they miscalculated the situation, and from Friday on through the week end the two were hustling like they had announced a grand opening.

The actual grand opening has been set for next Tuesday.

The new place was built by a new contracting firm here, Barnhardt and Ash, and the interior is the work of Jones and Fagg, Salem.

The exterior is white, trimmed in green. A wide approach to the tavern has been paved, and a big parking lot is provided in the rear.

The interior is finished with blond birch for the bar and back bar, and booths are of vinylite, in green and ochre. The same colors dominate the interior decoration.

Wide plate glass windows open on three sides of the barroom.

Mr. Ditter and Mr. Ziebert are both long residents of Mill City. Buzz Fleetwood is assisting them.
