Marion Forks

BY MRS. SCOTT YOUNG

Mrs. Josephine Morgan and daughters of Scio, accompanied by Harry Stillwell and Mrs. Morgan's daughter's two children all visited Marion Forks Sunday. They are all relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Smith made a business trip to Culver and Redmond last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Westerberg and son George, who have been living here in their summer home on the Santiam, have now moved back to their home in Portland. They have done extensive work on their place and it is a credit to the countryside.

Mr. Bear likes apples, so the folks up at Marion Forks have found out. A small bear is becoming a pest. He ransacked around a trailer house and emptied a bushel of apples and left only four. Could it have been he was thoughtful of others or was he just plumb full? What do you think? He totes garbage cans around, claws around on doors with the hopes he might get in. People's hearts go bump bump but that doesn't help. The only sure cure is a rightly driven shot. People who work would rather sleep and that is the time he prowls.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Parker of Detroit were Sunday visitors here.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Klug are making their summer home ready for the winter months.

Mr. Don McNeil was here at his summer home putting in braces against the winter snows.

Letters to the Editor

I have recently moved to Mill City, luckily finding a very nice house on N.W. Alder Street. This street is paved up to a certain point. In front of three homes half way down Alder street, one finds huge holes which are getting worse every day. The balance of the street, past this point, is fine.

Can't something be done to force the property owners to pave or fill in the holes on the street fronting their property? I am sure that I, along with numerous others who have to drive their cars over this very bad strip of street, feel that if any damage is done to our cars because of this situation, it should be the responsibility of these property owners to repair our cars.

Signed, Mrs. Cecil L. Fritts.

They built this walk so that all citizens would not have to walk in the mud, and they built the iron-pipe railing along side the walk so that the citizens and particularly the elder citizens, could hang onto the railing while coming down the hill during freezing and snowy weather without falling and breaking leg or neck.

Commencing last Saturday night October 29, the walk railing has been pushed over five nights straight. Whoever is doing this undecent act, might think they have something to laugh at, but instead they laugh alone, and are putting themselves into the category of the worst people in the world.—Signed, Dick Turpin.
