MAN SERIOUSLY INJURED IN CAR-TRUCK ACCIDENT

A man identified as Al McDonald of Albany was injured a week ago Monday night as the car in which he was riding ran headlong into the rear of a parked loaded logging truck directly in front of the Harry Monroe home, at Gates.

Two other occupants of the car, also from Albany, escaped without injury. The men were evidently coming from work from the little North Fork road, as they were all dressed in work clothes. It was just dusk and the driver was unable to see the parked truck until too late.

The car was completely demolished with the ends of two logs almost touching the rear seat on the right hand side.

The car in which the injured man was riding was driven by W. R. Taylor of Albany. The logging truck, driven by Elton Brown of Mehama was owned by Harold Wiltse of Mill City. The condition of McDonald, who was taken to a Salem hospital, is reported as "fair."
