

FROZEN CAKE TESTS TO BE CONDUCTED AT OSC

Can one really make a cake, freeze it, and then serve it fresh and luscious a week, a month or several months later?

In an attempt to answer that question the school of home economics here is conducting some research this year. Mrs. Patsy Jones, 1948 graduate, is making the cakes to be frozen from a recipe developed last spring by Dr. Andrea Overman, director of home economics research, now on sabbatical leave.

The cakes will be taken from the freezer and judged throughout the year by a group of home economics staff members, after which Dr. Overman will compile the findings upon her return. Another research study concerns the stability of fats in pastry mixes during long storage.

A cord of seasoned wood will give as much heat as a ton of coal, and leave about one-quarter the amount of ashes.

Appointment of John Bollinger, 53, as general manager of the Oregon Farmers Union Co-operative association has been announced by the board of directors. Bollinger succeeds D. M. Eby who submitted his resignation several weeks ago. He will take over active management of the Farmers Union co-operative's four stores and oil and gas plant Jan. 1. Mr. Bollinger has been active in the Farmers Union and co-operative movement since 1933.

landed. Al Haun, Ardell Webster, who was killed, and the driver were at the bottom of the canyon. Dislodged rocks caused the injured men some worry.

A carload of dam workers were first on the rescue scene and one of them put in the call for help, which came from the Mongold ambulance.

NEW PLAYGROUND EQUIPMENT IS INSTALLED

A Merry-go-round and new slide has been installed on the southwest side of the new grade school building. The Mill City Firemen paid $142 on the former, the total cost of which was $158.50. The latter cost $165.00 and was purchased by the school district. The equipment was bought from the Northern School Supply company.

The old playground equipment was moved from the former grade school building to the new side.

NEW ENTERPRISES FINDING OPPORTUNITIES IN MEHAMA

By JEAN ROBERTS
Mehama's newest enterprise, a custom smoke house is doing a booming business reports Andy Spriggs, owner of the Southern Bar BQ. At present he is awaiting delivery of lumber to construct another building for cutting and curing meat and rendering lard.

A 7-lb. salmon, caught by Bruce Philippi, young son of Roy Philippi after a recent trip to the coast is being smoked in the separate fish compartment.

The meat business in the Mehama area seems to be a thriving one.

Earlier this year, Myron Fender local butcher, anticipating the growing demands of the canyon started a modern version of the old meat wagon. He now delivers meat daily via station wagon to the canyon communities at competitive prices.
