MEHAMA

By JEAN ROBERTS
Several inches of snow falling in an hour and a half Sunday morning was welcomed with glee by all Mehama small fry, but with little enthusiasm by the older folks.

A group of young people near Wilson's hatchery were having a gay time Monday on a sled hooked behind an automobile, while further up the road an automobile filled with thrill seekers was skidding and cutting di-does on the icy pavement.

A big snow man stood in Shield's yard but Linda and Judy Monroe were disappointed in their attempts to make a snow man out of the dry snow that wouldn't roll.

Pat Shields entertained a group of Mehama teenagers with a dinner at her home Monday.
