

Speed Chief Factor In Traffic Deaths

Accidents outside the limits of cities and towns continued to exact Oregon's heaviest traffic death toll last year, the secretary of state's traffic safety division reported today.

Complete figures for 1949 show three out of four fatal smash-ups took place outside of incorporated areas, the division said. Accident studies covering the past several years reveal approximately the same high proportion of lethal mishaps.

Safety officials said higher rates of speed on open highways was the factor most responsible, pointing out that an accident at relatively slow city speeds is not so likely to cause injury or death. A similar accident at even normal highway speed sharply decreases the chances of escaping death.

The record holds a lesson for all motorists to keep in mind during the coming spring and summer travel season, the division stressed. Inter-city traffic is expected to remain at peak levels, demanding heads-up driving when city limits signs are left behind.

O.S.C. Garden Bulletin Available After Revision

Memo to vegetable gardeners: an old favorite garden folder of yours—Farm and Home Vegetable Garden, extension bulletin 614—has undergone its "umpteenth" revision.

The author, A. G. B. Bouquet, long-time Oregon garden authority and professor of vegetable crops at O. S. C., says the bulletin has been brought up to date. A copy is awaiting you at your local county extension office. Or, write direct to the college, being sure to note the bulletin title and number on your postcard.

That handy planting calendar is included again. In fact, about the only change Professor Bouquet has made in it is to substitute new vegetable varieties for those which have been surpassed and are no longer his recommendations. Forty-one different vegetables are listed, and at least one recommended variety for each is given.

The folder tells you when to plant, depth of seeding, distance between rows and plants, and most important, when you can expect to eat something from your own garden. The garden planting table has been made out for a family of five and suggests number of feet of row space or number of plants for all common vegetables.

Severin, Marion Candidate For Representative

Richard G. Severin, in announcing his candidacy for representative from Marion county, stated; putting myself in your place, these few words probably would not enable me to make up my mind entirely about the man I wanted to vote for. However, may the following facts help you judge my character and abilities to serve as your Representative.

I was born in Sweden 1895, arrived in the United States in 1910 and became a citizen a few years later.

I have worked hard since the age of twelve when I served as cabin-boy on a clipper sailing ship. Twice around the Horn by the time I was fourteen.

I volunteered for Army service April 7th, 1917, and served as Tech Sergeant overseas and Panama. Discharged September 1919. Married Cecelia V. Imrie in Johnsonville, N.Y., thirty-one years ago. We have five children, one boy, four girls. Boy and a girl served overseas during last war and we worried about them just as you did if you had someone dear overseas.

I understand the problems of veterans and their families. Served as service officer in my Legion post for several years during depression.

Girl Scouts Plan Friday Ceremonies at School

The Mill City Girl Scout troop No. 36 will hold first investiture service Friday night, 7:30 p.m., April 7, at the high school recreation room.

The service in candlelight setting will include singing and folk dances by the girls. The troop organized last fall is under the sponsorship of the Lions Club Auxiliary. Mrs. W. G. Stover, leader of the troop, stated there are now 22 girls between the ages of 10 and 12 in troop 36.

The parents and interested public are invited to attend Friday nights service.

Santiam Canyon Shown In National Publication

"The Beautiful Santiam Canyon" was the caption recently carried in an Oregon advertisement in Collier's magazine.

While the advertisement was paid for by the State of Oregon the Mill City Chamber of Commerce Industrial committee made the necessary contacts to have the picture in the national publication.

Plans for more publicity of canyon resources are now underway. Committee members expressed the belief that such advertisements will stand an excellent chance in bringing eastern manufacturers to this area.

Difference in Cancer Drives

The National Cancer Hospital of America, currently conducting a mail solicitation in Oregon, has no connection with the American Cancer Society, officials of the society's Oregon division reported in response to numerous inquiries.

The Better Business bureau advised the American Cancer Society's headquarters here that the National Cancer Hospital of America is represented by an 80-bed hospital in Detroit, Michigan.

George W. Schoeffel, state chairman of the American Cancer Society's campaign which is scheduled to run through the month of April, said he had received reports from many Oregon counties indicating that persons have responded to the National Cancer Hospital appeal, believing it to be affiliated with the American Cancer Society.

Schoeffel pointed out that the American Cancer Society spends 60 per cent of its funds in Oregon. The society is financing several research projects at the University of Oregon medical school as well as many other projects in cancer research and education.

business since 1921, in Salem since 1935, writing all insurance for some of our largest canning and industrial plants, merchants, home owners and farmers. My work has given me considerable practical knowledge of business economics and agricultural problems that affect all of us. I believe in the application of sound business methods to our state affairs. I am a home and farm owner in Marion county. Fraternal and civic affiliations include Masons, Shriners, Elks, American Legion, Chamber of Commerce, local, state and national Associations of Insurance Men, member of Salem Civil Service Commission.

In my fraternal, civic and business experience, I have learned an unforgettable lesson in community co-operation, the need of helping others, and the value of friendship. It is my sincere hope that the state's business can be conducted in the same manner as successful, private free enterprise. That is our great American heritage. (That is the heritage of Oregon and Marion county.) May I offer my service to help preserve that great heritage.

VETERANS ADVISED ON BONUS

Applicants for the Washington World War II veterans' bonus are advised to be patient—facilities of the Washington bonus staff are limited to checking of only 1,500 claims a day and payment of about 1,000 a day, from over 175,000 applications.

This information was received by the Oregon Department of Veterans' Affairs in answer to a recent inquiry to A. C. Ashenfelter, Washington Division of Veterans Compensation administrator, regarding the schedule of payments of that state's recently enacted bonus.
