ASK YOURSELF: WOULD YOU VOTE FOR HARRY BRIDGES OR HENRY WALLACE?

You do have to ask yourself that question. For, if you are a registered Republican, you will have on your May 19 ballot a man who has voted for Henry Wallace and has on numerous occasions defended Harry Bridges.

The thing about Morse that disturbs thoughtful, patriotic people is not that he has voted with the Republican majority in the U. S. Senate less than 30 per cent of the time, but that he has sided with the pinkos, the commies and the leftists practically 100 per cent of the time!

Just recently Morse proclaimed himself a "maverick" who had "never joined" the Republican party. Maybe that's all right, but why does Maverick Morse invariably end up in the same corral with such Senators as the far-to-the-left Pepper, the renegade Taylor and the discredited Langer?

And why is he found so often on the same side with radicals such as Tom Mooney, Harry Bridges, Henry Wallace, Aubrey Williams, Leland Olds and Raymond McKeough?

The only way to judge a man like Morse is by what he does, not by what he says or by what his 'liberal' friends say about him. The record is plain enough for anyone who cares to look at it with an open mind.

Back in his college-professor days Morse was one of those who sought and later secured a pardon for Tom Mooney, the radical who had been given a life sentence for his part in the 1916 Preparedness Day bombing in San Francisco.

Morse has defended Harry Bridges many times. He once said: "Harry Bridges is a better citizen than the people who are trying to deport him."

In a letter to the papers recently, Francis J. Murvane, Secretary-Treasurer of the Bridges defense committee stated Morse now "seeks to deny his early associations with Bridges and the ILWU . . . Morse has renounced principles for politics, and now assails Bridges while his appeal in higher court is pending. Not long ago Morse eagerly accepted help from Bridges. Any man who plunges a dagger in the back of a friend is not fit for public office. If Morse does it to Bridges today, he will do it to someone else tomorrow."

Morse was one of 10 Republicans who voted for the confirmation of Henry Wallace as Secretary of Commerce.

Morse was one of only four Republicans who voted the confirmation of Aubrey Williams as REA administrator. In case you have forgotten, Williams was deputy WPA administrator under Harry Hopkins.

Morse was one of two Republicans to vote for the confirmation of Raymond McKeough as U. S. Maritime commissioner. McKeough was formerly Mid-West regional director for the Political Action Committee.

During the 81st session of congress, Morse voted for confirmation of Leland Olds to the Federal Power commission. In so doing Morse kept a public promise to Monroe Sweetland, National Democratic Committeeman for the state of Oregon.

Have you heard enough? And have you had enough of Morse's so-called "liberalism"?

If you haven't, take a look at the ADA World dated October 28, 1949, official organ of the Americans for Democratic Action, far-to-the-left organization upon which Truman recently showered compliments for its "liberalism."

You will find that along with Pepper, Taylor and Langer, Morse followed the ADA "party line" virtually 100 per cent.

Yes, we know Morse is a brilliant man. So was Dr. Klaus Fuchs, atomic scientist who gave the secrets of the atom bomb to the Russians. Speaking in the U. S. Senate on October 22, 1945, Morse said: "It is my plea that we listen to the men of science rather than to those who are appealing to the fears of the people in an endeavor to persuade them to adopt a narrow nationalistic program for the control of the atom bomb . . . after all, the secret of atomic energy does not belong to America, but instead it belongs to all mankind."

Before you vote, ask yourself this question. Wouldn't an atom bomb given to the Russians in a spirit of misguided "liberalism" kill you just as dead as one obtained in any other way?
