Striking Picture Emphasizes Lay Witness

NASHVILLE, TENN. — Warner Sallman's striking picture, "Feed My Sheep," presents the challenge of evangelism to laymen. It will have world-wide distribution on the cover of the all-laymen issue of The Upper Room, devotional guide published here. Writers of the daily meditations are laymen and laywomen of many occupations including: housewives, farmers, editors, merchants, manufacturers, labor leaders, lawyers, engineers, doctors.

The churches of the United States and Canada are participating in a United Evangelistic Advance. The all-laymen issue of The Upper Room emphasizes the place of laymen and laywomen in this movement. Thirteen editions of this devotional guide are printed in its world-wide circulation, with more than two million copies distributed in the United States.

Trailer Construction Plans Available

Construction plans for a handy and sturdy horse trailer made of exterior grade plywood are outlined in a new O.S.C. agricultural experiment station circular of information. While designed especially to transport a single horse, the trailer is equally useful for hauling other kinds of livestock within its capacity.

Copies of the publication, "A Plywood Horse Trailer", are available free from county extension offices or from the college. Author is Clyde Walker, formerly with the department of agricultural engineering.

The completed trailer weighs approximately 850 pounds and is so balanced that it can be maneuvered easily when empty by one man. The floor and sides are reinforced for strength and durability. A storage compartment is built in at the front of the trailer. Drawings and specifications are included.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Carey and Diane of Portland spent Mother's Day with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Chance and his mother, Mrs. Velma Carey of Gates.
