A reception followed the ceremony. Approximately sixty guests attended. After a wedding trip to Montana, the young couple will make their home in Mehama.

It's just as illogical to suggest abolishing capitalism because it hasn't abolished poverty as it would be to suggest abolishing the churches because they haven't abolished sin.—C. Donald Dallas.

Quips & Quotes

By PHIL McNOTE
Surely nothing in the astonishing scheme of life can have nonplused nature so much as the fact that none of the females of any of the species she created really cared very much for the male, as such.

One can read in great sorrow and length in the sixth volume of the Encyclopaedia Britannica of the courtship of animals, of the great lengths males must go to arouse the interest of a lady. Nature supposedly equipped man with numerous gadgets to attract a mate with, only to result in making her nervous and frustrated.

It is further confusing to see today's publicity men attempting to turn back the age old custom and law. There was a time when queens were limited to bee hives and castles. Not so, however, today. If every what-cha-ma-doodle doesn't have a queen they are at once second class.

Have the perverted balance of the publicity people tricked us into believing the male is no longer in possession of any glory?

It is no news of comfort to see the bare legs of the delicate sex on every can of tomatoes, and at the head of every festival. Now neither me old scotch father or his son ever had any great objection to a pretty ankle. 'Tis not such a thing at all. Just a bit of wonderment as to why the near bare female must be super-imposed on objects before they attract attention.

More difficult to understand is the view point of the advertiser. When 71% of all shoppers are women the "attraction motivation" seems a little weak. Inasmuch as the preceding statistics seem to prove something; why not a few more pictures and campaigns with the illustrious male in something daring like a loin cloth? A view that would show the hair on his chest or the lovely shape of his legs.

The need for the male comeback seems imminent.

Electric Kitchen on Wheels

Complete all-electric kitchens and home-laundries, duplicating those found in prize winning homes, have been placed on wheels for a tour that will take them into thousands of towns and villages across the nation. As shown above such glamorous innovations as the pushbutton electric range, the front opening automatic dishwasher and the two-door refrigerator will be demonstrated by home economists who will accompany the exhibit from Chicago's Hotpoint factories. While the project is planned to ultimately utilize many complete "kitchens and laundries on wheels" in all parts of the country, the pilot run is being made to 50 farm and home equipment shows at points in Alabama, Kentucky, Mississippi and Tennessee.
A spokesman said that besides the fairs and other crowd-events, special showings of the equipment would be held for dealer and electric company customers.
In addition to the full size electric kitchens and laundries, the Fruehauf trailer which carries the exhibit has installed two "planning nooks" where women may design and build their own kitchens out of miniature scale models. Hotpoint dealers have arrangements by which the miniature appliances and the design selected may be duplicated in a new or remodeled home kitchen.
