Hunter's Choice Deer Season Eliminated

At a special meeting directly following a public hearing October 16, the Oregon game commission voted to eliminate the hunter's choice deer season that had been scheduled for October 21st and 22nd.

The commission also voted to extend the regular deer season for bucks with forked horns or better, thru October 22nd. The extension of the general season, however, does not apply in the area in Lake and Klamath counties where the special season on the Interstate deer herd is being held on October 18 and 19.

Hunters Trespass On Federal Lookout Station

Mehama—Forest Service officials as well as private individuals have complained of the destructiveness of some sportsmen.

Rocky Top lookout which is federal property and padlocked, was entered by a group of local hunters, who found it a convenient and dry camp.

This is the second year that this lookout has been used by deer hunters. Still remembered by forest service representatives, was the fact that dry wood stored in the lookout was unstintingly used last year. Wood, which had been carried up hill a quarter mile, in armloads, by Arnold Sipe, the lookout. Pack rats had also entered through the hole made by the intruders and caused considerable damage.

Keith Phillips, fire warden, states that lookout stations are state and federal property, not to be used except in case of emergency.

Hunters Draw Blank But Have Fun

Lyons—With the hunting season drawing to a close, very few have been successful in getting their deer. Some have earned them the easy way, while others have found it more difficult, with their trip into the mountain a pleasant and anxious journey, while homeward bound doesn't always prove that way. At least that is the way it proved for four sturdy hunters, Merrill Brassfield, Earl Allen, Bob Brassfield and Perry Clippell, who left for Big Lake with everything a hunter needs including a pickup and a horse.

Everything went lovely going in, the horse a congenial old fellow did his duties very well. But on the return trip Mr. Horse wasn't so anxious and wouldn't be loaded into the pickup. Leaving camp about 9:30 in the morning, every effort was made and tried, even to pulling, coaxing, prying and pushing but to no avail, and after about four hours of strenuous work, Merrill Brassfield, the oldest of the party proved to be quite a nimble and alert cowboy, by mounting and riding the horse for about three miles. Then with the help of a passerby the animal was finally persuaded into the trailer.

Then when all loaded and set ready to go, they discovered the trailer mired in the mud, after diligently digging and shoveling all to no avail, they had to have some one pull them out, which cost them another $10. Perry Clippell who had to return a day or two ahead of his party missed all of the excitement also his buck.

Miller Holds Hearing On Crowe Death

A hearing on the recent accidental death of Thomas A. Crowe, Jr. was held October 12 at Detroit, before H. R. Miller, a representative of the State Industrial Accident Commission. The hearing was called to establish all pertinent facts in connection with the fatal accident. The employer, Thompson - Hendrickson Logging company, is a subject firm covered through acceptance of the Workmen's Compensation Act which is administered by the Industrial Accident Commission.

Crowe was seriously injured when the wheel of a loaded log truck trailer rolled over his body. Death resulted eleven days later.

The hearing elicited testimony of all eye-witnesses or other persons who had knowledge of the accident to determine what situations, actions, or other circumstances may have contributed to the death. This determination of cause is essential to the prevention of like accidents in the future.

A record of the proceedings will be filed in Salem. Some of the facts will be used in the programs of the Accident Prevention Division to prevent similar accidents.

Going from one job to another with Contractor Gilo is a component of some 12 to 14 skilled men. Local workers added to this group of experts is expected to swell the total number working at the peak effort to 45 or 50 men.

Mr. Gilo indicated that he was setting up a camp for operations where he and a portion of his men are to live. Mr. Gilo lives in the Mill City Hotel at present.

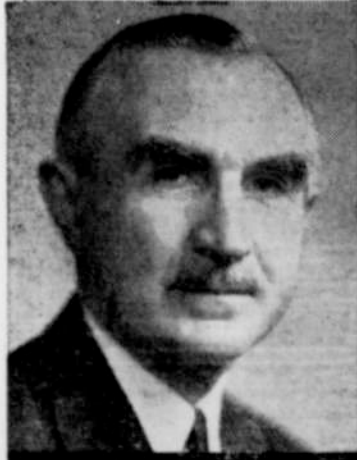

Weather permitting, all grading work should draw to a close some time in July, 1951. Gilo does only grading work, therefore after grading hard-surfacing of the new grade goes to some other contractor.

Mr. Gilo expressed a genuine interest in the welfare of the canyon communities and the desire to co-operate with its citizens—even inviting them to come and watch his heavy machinery cut a new super-highway through a portion of the North Santiam canyon.

The prohibition bill will bring back prohibition evils.
