Something For The Holidays

Premiums with a purpose delight housewives the country over, according to the staid Wall Street Journal, which recently surveyed merchandising methods of leading manufacturers. Such a premium is the floral plastic tablecloth being made available to consumers nationally during November and December by Lever Brothers Company. Housewives find it attractive for their own kitchens and dining rooms, and also as a Christmas gift for their friends. The plastic article may be quickly cleaned with a stroke of a damp cloth. It is offered at a third of its retail value.

Win Watch Awards for 4-H Work

HANDSOME gold-filled watches were awarded club members for achieving highest rating in Oregon for work in the 1950 national 4-H frozen foods, leadership and meat animal programs. A review of their records indicates they were active all-round 4-H'ers.

Joan Lehman

Marilyn Bohnert

Charles Colegrove

Noma Jeanne Otto

There's no fuss or muss to serve a tasty meal on short notice in the Lehman family of Dayton, since daughter Joan, 15, has learned how to freeze all kinds of food. Proof that she did a first rate job is not only in the eating, but also in the fact that she won top state honors in the 4-H Frozen Foods program. The award, a handsome gold watch inscribed with her name, was presented by International Harvester. A club member for seven years, Joan has completed 25 projects. A favorite with the family is smelt. A supply is caught during the smelt runs and the fish are cleaned and packaged for use during the year. Joan has given many exhibits in her project, and her team won the championship in frozen foods at the state fair this year. An ardent 4-H'er, Joan has been vice-president and leader of her club for several years.

Winning state honors in the 4-H Meat Animal program climaxed a busy and eventful six years in club work for Marilyn Bohnert, 16, of Central Point. She raised beef and hogs. During the six years Marilyn has been in 4-H she has been awarded many honors. She started with a Hereford steer which won grand champion at County Fair. By putting into practice lessons learned in the meat animal program she realized a dream come true when King Tut was awarded grand champion at state fair. At

All of these activities are conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA co-operating.

Miss Otto also has been a club member 10 years. Her mother—with a background of 28 years of 4-H leadership—has been a constant help and inspiration to her. All the members of her club have made outstanding records for exhibits at state and county fairs. Last year Noma Jeanne was presented with the Oregon Bankers Cup, as the outstanding girl leader in Oregon. She is now a student at Oregon State College. A handsome gold watch appropriately inscribed was presented to each by Edward Foss Wilson, president of Wilson and Co., Chicago.

Charles Colegrove, 19, of Junction City, and Noma Jeanne Otto, 18, Eugene, a 4-H'er for 10 years, Charles has completed 70 projects, serving as president and leader of his club for seven years. In its safety project his group assisted in making a film on the use and misuse of handling farm tools. Charles has been tireless in helping younger members prepare exhibits, and demonstrate the proper procedure in caring for and showing animals.
