The Apple Tree Court lost one of its appletrees last week in a wind-storm. The tree was blown over, falling on the lawn, fortunately it missed hitting any of the court buildings or cars usually parked on the court marquet. The tree was broken off above the ground and it was evident the trunk was well decayed.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clippell were Salem visitors late Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Johnston, Kathryn and Kenton were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Betke and family in Silverton Friday evening. The event was honoring the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Betke, whose birthdays fall on December 2.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Three weeks ago this column reported to you exclusively that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had secured control of the allocation of materials needed to produce "Camelback" used to recap tires. As was reported, this was an example of a government bureau seizing powers not given to it by law.

At that time it was learned that RFC would not allocate material to the small manufacturers who make up the "Camelback" industry unless they could show impending bankruptcy.

Affecting as it did so many people, publication of this news created great interest. Not only did this arbitrary action endanger thousands of tire recapping companies in every town in the nation, it also threatened dairy truck operators, farmers and many others.

The din of protest in Washington was apparently loud, coming principally from the smaller towns and cities. The result has been that the Commerce Department has now taken over control of allocations; manufacturers of "Camelback" are assured adequate supplies to keep their plants working on a 48 hour week basis.

When Congress reconvenes there may be an investigation of the matter.

The facts are that rubber has bounced back and forth so much in Washington that many Congressmen would like to bring out into the open whose bouncing baby it is.

There has been a concerted drive in certain official quarters to force domestic users of rubber to use natural crude instead of synthetic.

©National Federation of Independent Business

This, despite the fact that synthetic sells for around 18 1/2 cents per pound, and natural rubber, selling before Korea at a range of from 19 to 24 cents per pound, has now soared to more than 60 cents per pound.

Natural crude was in shortage during World War II. Now there seems to be ample supplies for anyone who can afford the price. Congressmen wonder about two points.

Are the large American rubber corporations who own some rubber plantations behind this?

This, they say, would be the obvious avenue to explore, except for one fact; the persistent rumor that the State Department is involved. This then, opens another avenue.

It is well known that Britain has almost a world monopoly on natural rubber. "Could it be," it is asked, "that the boys in striped pants who will do anything to save the world—including bankrupting America—are behind this?"

It is well known that Britain needs dollars. Volume sales of natural rubber at inflated prices would give Britain dollars fast.

"After all," Congressmen say, "any nation that socializes its steel industry; that through socialized medicine gives free false teeth and spectacles to all, needs dollars."

"In fact," they say, "if a Britisher gets a headache, the government gives him free aspirin."

"That is their affair as long as the headaches are not passed to Americans."
