

Revival Campaign Opens At Free Methodist Church

A Revival campaign was opened at the Free Methodist church in North Mill City, January 21st with Rev. E. N. Long of Portland, speaking nightly, Services beginning at 7:30 each evening.

Rev. Mr. Long has served as pastor in Oregon for thirty years, and for the past five years has been engaged in the Evangelistic field.

All are invited to avail themselves of this opportunity to take part in and enjoy godly gospel singing, and hear sound gospel preaching, according to L. C. Gould, pastor of the church. Some possible subjects include: "A Sure Foundation", "Christian Certainty", "How Shall We Escape", and "Pentecostal Power".

Pastor Gould announced that the Free Methodist church has an excellent Sunday school and that the children enjoy it immensely. The pastor observed that it was "High time that we teach our boys and girls the Gospel truth". He urged all that are not attending elsewhere to send or better bring their children to this growing Sunday school.

Test Tube Vs. Polio

For generations polio was accepted as one of the "mystery diseases" of mankind, an elusive destroyer andcrippler, striking unpredictably with epidemic force. Today, medical science knows a great deal about polio. The "mystery" phase is past. The period of exploration, discovery and eventual conquest is well under way.

With funds provided by the March of Dimes, the nation's top scientists are hard at work in hospital and university laboratories, exploring every reasonable approach that may lead to the ultimate control of polio epidemics and conquest of the disease as an individual affliction.

The recent discovery that polio virus could be grown in test tubes, using non-nervous tissue as the culture medium, has been acclaimed as a new milestone in polio research. It has greatly widened the field for the research scientists in their efforts to find a vaccine, drug or serum effective against infantile paralysis.

In its thirteen years of existence, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has authorized the expenditure of $11,753,736 in March of Dimes funds for research. Of this amount, $8,841,158 has been granted in the field of virus research, while $2,912,578 has been allocated to study of prevention and treatment of the disease's crippling after-effects.

There is a sound basis for the hope that some day polio will be controlled or wiped out by science through the March of Dimes.
