OUT OF GODFREY'S TEABAG

I ran into some trouble flying up to New York for my program—at 8,000 feet above Washington I almost bumped into some meat prices.

This is Arthur Godfrey—the Frankie Laine of World War I.

What the Kefauver investigation needed was a good theme song, and I have a suggestion: "Little White Lies."

Isn't spring a delightful time of year? A young man's fancy lightly turns to what us middle-aged guys have been thinking about all year.

Don't get me wrong—I'm proud to be paying taxes in the United States. The only thing is—I could be just as proud for half the money.

Speaking of taxes—it used to be I took a buck, I gave Uncle Sam a buck, and my wife took the rest. Now—my wife gets a buck, Uncle Sam gets the rest, and I charge it.

ELECTRICAL TIPS FOR THE HOME

If You Read, Sew, Play Games in the Living Room . . .

DON'T assume that the lighting is adequate because each chair or table is furnished with a good lamp. Sharp contrasts between bright lights and surrounding dark shadows cause eye-strain and general fatigue.

DO add some general lighting in the room to chase away all harsh shadows. This can be done with a recessed ceiling unit, valance or cornice lighting. Whatever you install, be sure to provide handy switches near each entrance.

A Reminder
TO FOLKS WHO ARE PLANNING PICNICS

Green forests are an American heritage. Picnics in the woods—the tangy smoke of a carefully watched campfire—hiking—hunting—fishing—all are part and parcel of healthful outdoor recreation to millions every year. Americans can both use and keep their forests always if they protect them from fire and harvest them wisely.

Blood Donor Public Quiz

Is there any charge for Red Cross blood?

No, the only charge is that made by the hospital for the administration charge. The hospital bill should read: Red Cross blood—no charge Administration $-----

Does it Hurt?

Some. Although they tell us that the sticking of the finger for a drop for testing the hemoglobin hurts more. Novocaine is used first, before the actual bleeding is done.

Who can receive Red Cross blood?

As long as the blood lasts (50% of all blood drawn goes to the armed services) anyone, regardless of financial status, race, creed or color, can receive Red Cross blood if his doctor says it is necessary.

Who pays for the Red Cross blood program?

It is the people who donate to the Red Cross fund campaign. The Red Cross is not tax-supported, its only money is received by voluntary contributions. The armed forces, however, do assure the cost of processing the plasma for overseas use. No Red Cross blood is ever paid for.

Who can donate blood?

Anyone between 18 and 59 years of age. Under 21, the minor must have the written consent of the parent or guardian.

Do you accept Malaria or Jaundice?

Malaria, yes, if there have been no attacks for two years. Jaundice at the present time, no. The advisory committee of doctors and scientists for the national Red Cross are again considering the jaundice problem. So, for the present, no jaundice.

If I have been rejected, should I try again?

Why not? Maybe your blood didn't have quite enough iron then, but might be all right now. Maybe you had a slight fever. Unless the nurse told you that you were a permanent rejection, try again.

Are all those people at the blood center paid?

The only paid workers are the technical staff from the center in Portland. The nurses who draw the blood and the custodians in charge of the blood. The receptionists, the staff aides and grey ladies; the nurses who take your temperature and history; the nurse's aides who help in the donor room and the canteen workers who give you coffee, all are volunteers, as you are. The doctors are also volunteers.

Where does this blood go?

It is transported to Portland in refrigerated trucks where it is typed and serology tests done. 50% of all blood goes to the armed services, the remainder supplies hospitals throughout western Oregon and Washington.

How often can I give?

Every 8 weeks. But except for an emergency or shortage of blood, there should be enough people in Salem so that every 3 months is enough.

What about Red Cross and civil defense?

The Red Cross has been designated by the defense department as the agency for procurement of blood for armed forces and civil defense. Stockpiling of blood for civil defense will be started as soon as the military needs can be met.

Are there ever any reactions from giving blood?

Yes, sometimes people feel faint or weak following donation. According to the doctors, this is mainly psychological because for centuries people have regarded human blood with awe and aversion. If some-
