TWIN CROPS—TIMBER & GAME

1. HOW MANY AMERICANS ARE BLIND?
2. SHOULD HOSPITALS TAKE CHEST X-RAYS OF ALL PATIENTS?
3. ARE MORE DOCTORS GOING INTO GENERAL PRACTICE?

Answer to Question No. 1:
1. Total blind population of the United States is about 260,000. After a child is three years old his sight should be tested yearly. Treatment of the eyes at birth has saved the sight of many infants.

Answer to Question No. 2:
2. The percentage of patients admitted to hospitals who show chest diseases after routine X-ray is higher than that of the general population. Therefore, a hospital which checks its patients on admission should be an ideal center for detecting tuberculosis and other diseases of the chest. Many hospitals now take this chest X-ray as a matter of course.

Answer to Question No. 3:
3. The percentage of students planning to enter general practice has increased from 36 to 47 per cent in the last three years, according to a recent poll taken in 19 medical schools. This increase promises more doctors for small town and rural areas.

Now that the fire season is closed, all logging and similar operations within the forested areas of the state must have forest inspector approved fire fighting tools at the location of the operation according to Frank Hamilton, district supervisor for the state forestry department.

Any operator in doubt as to what tools are required can get the information by contacting the nearest state forestry department district office, Hamilton said.

He specially pointed out that all power saws operated in forested areas must be equipped with fire extinguishers. The small pressurized chemical extinguishers of not less than 8 ounce capacity are being approved by forest inspectors in most cases. The extinguisher should be carried on the person of the saw operators and not be attached to the power saw. Extreme care in the use of power driven equipment is asked by forestry authorities.
