GATES

By MRS. ALBERT MILLSAP The Gates high school student body is extremely active these last days of school. The comedy, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," produced by the junior and senior classes and given in the Mill City theatre to a full house was a great success in every way. Nearly 400 tickets were sold.

Last Friday was skip day for the senior class. Accompanied by principal Don Miley, they took a trip down the Oregon coast as far as Crescent City, California, and then back through Grants Pass for a visit at the Oregon Caves. They returned home late Saturday night.

The junior-senior prom will be an event of next Friday night, May 18. Lorena Devine is prom chairman and is assisted by Carolyn Turnidge, Earl Henness and Marlin Cole. Mrs. Elmer Klutke, representing both the Gates P.T.A. and the Gates Womens' club, is aiding the students in making the affair one of the outstanding social events of the school year.

About ninety pupils of the Gates school from the fourth grade through the twelfth grade were taken by school bus to Mill City last Tuesday where they toured the Oregon Historical Caravan.

Your Home

My cousin Margot is being married next week—we've all been in a whirl for weeks! "The bride was a vision in organdy"—that's what the society pages will say. But they should say "The bride, and her home, wore organdy." I saw the house yesterday.

The bedroom is an ensemble in blue and buttercup yellow, yellow walls, blue bedspreads founced with billowing tiers of yellow organdy, dark blue rugs, dark blue organdy curtains. The sun streams through that translucent cotton veiling. Her modern living room is done in warm browns and rose. Pleated; tailored taupe organdy curtains lend dignity and sophistication.

The tiered white curtains give a spotless air to the dinette, and the red tablecloth's white organdy "overskirt" is appetizing as a frosted cherry.

"I'm not extravagant," she remarked. "Permanent finish organdy looks delicate as orange blossoms, but it'll take as much punishment as my diamond ring. It resists dirt, so needs fewer launderings. It always looks crisp and fresh, and washes in the machine. It never needs starch, and is a cinch to iron. It will last—"

"How do you know all this?" "Home economics class. We owe this sorcery to the Heberlein people in Switzerland, who've been finishing yarns and exquisite fabrics for over 100 years. Mine is made in the United States, by American craftsmen who have learned to use the same proven Heberlein technique."

She showed me frivolous cocktail napkins, frothed with organdy ruffle; tailored scarf with knife-pleated edging for Bob's bureau; gold organdy apron to tie over black taffeta pajamas for glamorous entertaining.

Bride with a one-track mind? Yes, but it's a beautiful and sensible route she follows.

Mrs. Jack Schimberg, Mrs. Bonnie Carol and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Putnam of Salem and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schmitt and son of Vancouver, Wash. Mr. and Mrs. Don Gessner made a business trip to Coulee dam last week. They were gone several days. Guests at the Gessner home over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas of Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Len Young are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Frances A. Young, to Collis F. Heath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Heath. The marriage, which was a surprise to many of their friends, took place in Reno, Nevada, Tuesday, May 1. Both the bride and groom attended the Gates schools and are graduates of the Gates high school. Heath is a veteran of the last World war. He served as an airplane mechanic. The couple have purchased a home east of Gates on the Linn county side of the river where they will reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Vail and family spent Mother's day in Mill City at the home of Mrs. Vail's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dell Smith. Other guests present were Mr. Smith's mother, Mrs.

Rabbit raisers everywhere are finding that a little CALF MANNA added to the diet of the doe and litter helps turn mediocre gains into big, highly profitable ones. Balanced feeding makes the difference. It takes remarkably little CALF MANNA to do the job, too. A tablespoonful per animal per day is the most you'll ever feed. Even bucks require no more.
